Indochina War

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops blew up the main ammunition dump in Pleiku early Wednesday, rocking the central highlands capital with a series of artillery explosions that were still going off five hours after the attack.

Associated Press correspondent David J. Paine reported from Pleiku that the explosions and heat were so intense South Vietnamese officials were unable to get near the dump to assess the damage.

There was no immediate report on casualties.

Two days ago, enemy sappers attacked the Pleiku fuel tank farm two miles north of the city, damaging the pumping system and several fuel bladders.

The ammunition dump is located two miles east of downtown Pleiku.

Farther north, enemy gunners shelled the Kontum air field. About 30 shells hit the airstrip overnight, damaging one and possibly two planes, Paine reported.

In the air war, American jets kept up heavy attacks on North Vietnam Tuesday and the U.S. Command said they destroyed an air defense system headquarters where Russians were known to have been working.

A U.S. adviser in the critical central highlands reported that U.S. B52 air bombardments had wiped out half of two North Vietnamese divisions operating in the region.

The U.S. Command, in a communique on the results of about 2,000 air strikes in North Vietnam during the last week, said Air Force F4 jets attacked the country's main air defense complex three miles south of Hanoi, "destroying several structures."

"The headquarters was wrecked," a spokesman for the 7th Air Force said later in assessing the damage at Bach Mai.

U.S. intelligence reports said Russian technicians and advisers were known to have been working at the headquarters but the U.S. Command had no comment.

The communique reporting on the results of the air strikes also said the main pipeline carrying fuel from the North to enemy tanks and supply trucks in the South was severed.

Ships—Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Soviet warships have been sighted in the South China Sea in position to move into waters off Vietnam if ordered to do so.

Military sources, reporting this Tuesday, indicated no great concern over the possibility that the Russian navy might be planning to counter the U.S. mining of North Vietnamese ports.

But it was noted that a 6,000-ton cruiser and three destroyers had paused southeast of Red China's Hainan Island after steaming from the Sea of Japan.

Some sources said the Russians might be trying to exert pressure on the United States.

The Soviet fleet was reported about 200 miles from Da Nang, a major U.S. base in South Vietnam, and some 300 miles from the North Vietnamese coast.

Its position is about where the Russians for some time have maintained a sea anchorage for their Pacific fleet naval units.

There were no mine sweepers with the Soviet naval force, the sources said.

Pentagon officials reported Tuesday that about half the 25

Communist tankers and freighters en route to North Vietnam ports when U.S. mines were laid last week have changed course and are heading elsewhere.

The remainder of the 25 cargo ships still are spaced out along thousands of miles of sea lanes reaching back to Soviet and East European ports, officials said.

None of the ships bound for North Vietnam has approached any closer than a couple of hundred miles from Haiphong, North Vietnam's principal port, according to the latest reports reaching here.

Officials said also no incoming vessels have been hailed by U.S. and South Vietnamese "notification" destroyers posted in the Gulf of Tonkin last week to warn merchantmen of the minefields blocking approaches to seven North Vietnamese ports.

Although U.S. patrol aircraft are keeping watch, officials indicated they do not yet know where the dozen or so diverted tankers and freighters are headed. But there is no sign yet that any are bound for South Chinese ports.

Senate War Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate doves lost a key vote Tuesday on their end-of-the-war amendment and chief supporters said they would now vote against their own measure.

"I accept the verdict of the Senate," said Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., adding he was willing to drop the whole issue and move on to other bills.

Sensors voted 47 to 43 to require an internationally supervised cease-fire as a precondition to cutting off appropriations for U.S. combat involvement in Indochina.

The original end-of-the-war amendment, as proposed by Sens. Clifford Case, R-N.J., and Frank Church, D-Idaho, would have cut off funds four months after agreement was reached for release of U.S. prisoners of war.

Addition of the cease-fire wording, said Church, "so emasculates Case-Church as to render it practically meaningless." He too would vote against his measure, he said.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss.,

had a motion on the schedule to strike Case-Church completely from the State Department authorization bill which contains it.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana introduced another end-of-the-war amendment but was persuaded to withdraw his proposal.

Stennis seemed agreeable also to dropping the entire issue if he could be sure it would not come up again while the President was in Moscow.

The actual vote revolved around the President's proposal made May 8 when he announced the mining of North Vietnamese ports.

Nixon said he would withdraw U.S. ground troops four months after prisoners are released and an internationally supervised cease-fire is declared.

Case and Church said then they would modify their amendment to read all funds would be cut-off four months after a prisoner of war agreement was reached instead of Dec. 31.

Wins Maryland, Michigan Primaries

Wallace Takes Two More

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. George C. Wallace won the Maryland and Michigan presidential primaries Tuesday night, and acknowledged the greatest triumph of his Democratic White House campaign with a nod and a smile from the hospital bed where he lay partially paralyzed, victim of an election eve assassination attempt.

Wallace was the landslide leader over Sens. George McGovern and Hubert H. Humphrey.

The Alabama governor was polling 49 per cent of the Michigan ballots in partial returns, 41 per cent in Maryland.

McGovern was running second in the Michigan primary, Humphrey in the Maryland contest.

Wallace, under heavy sedation, awakened briefly in his hospital room in Silver Spring, Md., and his wife, Cornelia, told him of the primary victories. She relayed word that he nodded and grinned.

The twin victories were Wallace's first outside the South. And in Michigan, he won by a massive margin in a traditionally liberal, industrial state which is vital to the Democratic game plan in any White House election.

He had been favored in both primaries, but no one had forecast the margins by which he left McGovern and Humphrey behind.

With nearly 40 per cent of the Michigan precincts counted, the vote stood this way:
Wallace 315,586 votes or 49 per cent.
McGovern 166,214 votes or 26 per cent.
Humphrey 119,019 votes or 18 per cent.

Michigan's Democratic nominating votes were apportioned among the candidates winning 5 per cent of the vote, the basis of their shares of the popular vote. That meant Wallace led for 69 first ballot votes, McGovern for 37, Humphrey for 26.

In Maryland, this was the situation with 85 per cent of the precincts counted:
Wallace 187,414 votes or 41 per cent.
Humphrey 116,619 votes of 26 per cent.
McGovern 101,107 votes, or 22 per cent.

That put Wallace in the lead for 41 Maryland delegate votes at the national convention, Humphrey and Wallace for 6 each. The delegates were apportioned among congressional districts.

The balance of the field of 11 in Maryland trailed far behind, as did four other entries on the Michigan ballot.

George Vows To Fight On

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — George C. Wallace awaited results of two promising primaries and word from his doctors Tuesday on whether he will walk again. And aides reported him ready to press his presidential campaign from a wheel chair if necessary.

"We're all very optimistic at this point," said Dr. Joseph Schanno, a member of the surgical team that operated on the Alabama governor for five hours after he was shot Monday at an election eve campaign rally in nearby Laurel.

Wallace's life was no longer considered in danger Tuesday.

His name was officially removed from the critical list at 2:30 p.m. EDT, less than 24 hours after he was shot. And his condition was listed as stable with the patient out of danger. He was being fed intravenously.

Wallace was conscious but sedated in an intensive-care unit at Holy Cross Hospital as doctors evaluated the damage of a bullet that punctured his abdomen and lodged on the spinal column. Damage to the nerve bundles of the spinal cord already had caused some leg paralysis but doctors could not say whether this would be permanent.

Surgery was not planned immediately to remove the offending bullet.

Protesters Arrested Under Capitol Dome

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capitol police Tuesday arrested about 150 members of Concerned Clergy Against the War as they refused to leave the Capitol Rotunda.

Among those arrested were Dr. Benjamin Spock and Yale Chaplain William Sloan Coffin.

The demonstrators were given booking slips and transported to the police station, where they could post $50 bond on the misdemeanor charge of unlawful entry or remain in jail.

Representing various churches around the country, the group said it was protesting, in part, Senate passage of a measure softening the end-of-the-war amendment.

A police captain told the demonstrators they were violating a law by refusing to leave the domed section between the House and Senate after the 4:30 p.m. closing time.

Although given the chance to leave without arrest, the demonstrators stayed and sang hymns which echoed in the Capitol.

About 12 women were arrested first. Most moved without resistance but several girls were carried out.

More than half the protesters wore coats and ties. Nuns were dressed in civilian garb.

Economy Indicators Look Encouraging

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial production, one of the top indicators of the way the economy is going, increased by 1 per cent in April, the sharpest rise since December 1970, the Federal Reserve Board said Tuesday.

The increase in industrial production was the second report of the day bearing good economic news for the Nixon administration. The Commerce Department said the balance-of-payments deficit slackened to $3.5 billion in the first three months of the year compared with a $6.3 billion deficit in the closing three months of 1971.

Industrial production, a measure of the way factories, mines and utilities are putting out, climbed to 110.9 per cent of the 1967 average in April, making it 4.5 per cent higher than the index of 12 months earlier but still nearly 1 per cent below the 1969 peak.

While industrial production looked encouraging, two other reports issued by the Commerce Department were not as good.

Personal income of Americans rose $4 billion in April to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $909.7 billion. This compared with a $3.8 billion increase in March and, compared with some monthly increases, was small for personal income.

About $1.3 billion of the increase was attributed to retroactive pay increases granted by the Pay Board.

In the second report, the Department said housing starts in April were at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2.115 million units, about 242,000 units less than the rate of a month earlier. But the housing figure, although it has declined two months in a row, still is considered strong by government economists.

The balance-of-payments figures indicated less pressure on the dollar overseas and showed that the new international monetary agreement is beginning to take hold.

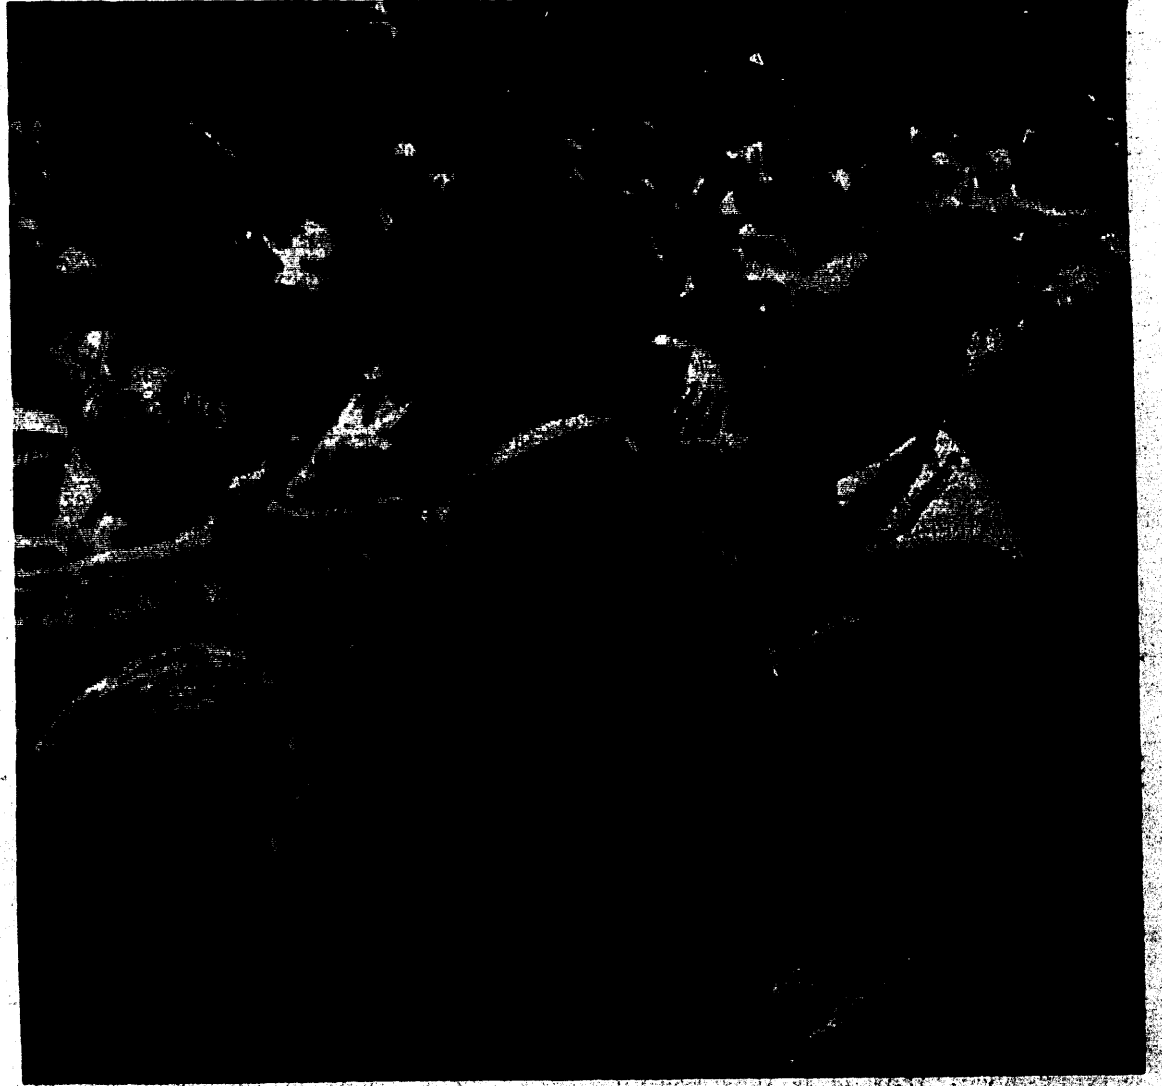

Allies Reject Efforts To Resume Paris Talks

PARIS (AP) — Communist efforts to resume the formal Paris Vietnam peace talks were rejected Tuesday by the allied side.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations sent notes to the U.S. and Saigon liaison officers early in the day calling for the talks to resume Thursday. They were suspended May 4 by the United States.

U.S. Chief negotiator William Porter already was en route to Washington for "routine consultations" when the Communist notes were received, the State Department said in Washington.

U.S. delegation spokesman Stephen Ledogar said the Communist demand was rejected because there was no indication "that the other side has any serious intention to negotiate on matters of substance."

WASHINGTON—President Nixon, ignoring advice from the Secret Service that it is impossible to protect a public figure in a crowd, waded into a mass of tourists outside the White House Tuesday, shaking hands and talking animatedly. He was on the way back to the White House after escorting John Connally from the Executive Mansion to the Treasury Department after announcing that the Texas politician had resigned as treasury secretary.

Nation Appears Horrified By Assassination Attempt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The outpouring of horror over the shooting of Gov. George C. Wallace and prayers for his recovery continued Tuesday as the Alabama chief executive lay partially paralyzed in a Maryland hospital.

People in all walks of life with beliefs from all parts of the political spectrum deplored the Monday assassination attempt and expressed hope for Wallace's complete recovery. Some called for stronger gun control laws.

The 52-year-old governor's chief rivals in Tuesday's Maryland and Michigan Democratic presidential primaries already had announced they were cancelling campaign appearances.

President Nixon, who also expressed sympathy earlier, said Tuesday he was keeping in "close touch" with Wallace's condition and offered the full facilities of Walter Reed Medical Center if needed.

The U.S. Senate adopted by voice vote a resolution deploring the shooting and expressing to Wallace and his family the "best wishes and prayers of all citizens."

Mrs. Martin Luther King, widow of the civil rights leader who was assassinated in 1968, said, "I greatly deplore this dastardly act of violence ... Violence is self-defeating."

Mrs. King was in Los Angeles to present an award from the King Center for Nonviolent Social Change to an elementary school in the Watts district.

Echoing the comments of several black leaders, Vernon E. Jordan Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, said:

John Connally Quits As Treasury Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced Tuesday the surprise resignation of Treasury Secretary John B. Connally under circumstances that did nothing to dispel rumors Connally might join him on the 1972 Republican ticket.

Standing before newsmen at the White House, the chief executive and the only Democratic member of his Cabinet were lavish in praising each other.

Then Nixon walked with the Treasury chief back to the secretary's headquarters a block away.

Nixon said he will nominate George P. Shultz, former secretary of Labor who now directs the Office of Management and Budget to succeed Connally.

Shultz, 51-year-old economist, is being succeeded at OMB by his deputy, Californian Caspar Weinberger.

The shifts in office are to become effective after the anticipated Senate confirmation of Shultz. The OMB appointment does not require Senate confirmation.

Connally was asked directly if he would be available should Nixon seek him as his autumn running mate in place of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Declaring that he didn't anticipate a presidential decision of that sort, Connally replied, "I don't want to engage in that type of speculation at this point in time."

The tall, gray-haired Treasury boss added:

"I'm not going to withdraw from the human race or from the political life of my nation."

Nixon said Connally would undertake some temporary, unpaid assignments for him—chores to be announced after the President returns from summit talks in the Soviet Union.

Just last month the President and Mrs. Nixon were overnight guests of Connally and his wife at their Texas ranch and on that occasion Nixon said Connally was capable of holding any job to which he might aspire.

Connally, who told reporters that politics played no part in his decision to resign, said Nixon's foreign and domestic policies have his complete support.

Nixon described the Cabinet Democrat as "the architect of the new economic policy," leader of the fight against inflation and "a tower of strength for the President." He told newsmen:

"When the going is the toughest, Secretary Connally is at his best."

The chief executive said Connally originally had agreed on Dec. 14, 1970, to serve only one year in the Cabinet. However, he said he persuaded Connally to extend his stay an extra six months because of last winter's major international monetary developments.

Parochialism:

Ends Runs Around The Constitution

A small-size issue in this campaign year but one capable of arousing outsized emotions is that of state or federal aid to nonpublic schools—usually dubbed “parochialism” because the nation’s many Catholic schools would be the chief beneficiaries.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, who has at least one position on every issue, favors tax credits for parents of parochial and private school children out of concern “that the American traditions of cultural and educational pluralism are endangered by the financial crisis facing nonpublic education.”

A presidential panel has recommended such a system and President Nixon has indicated his support.

But even if this were not an election year, “parochialism” would be a hot topic simply by virtue of a string of adverse court decisions.

In New York, for example, a federal court has barred the state from making payments to parochial schools under a 1971 aid law pending a test of its constitutionality.

A federal court in Ohio recently struck down a program that would have paid $90 to parochial school parents, and then had to turn around and deny the state’s plea that it be allowed to make payments up to the date the court had ruled the program unconstitutional.

The Ohio decision has made a militant out of another priest, Monsignor William N. Novicky, superintendent for education for the Cleveland Catholic diocese.

Novicky has suggested that Catholic parents might turn to civil disobedience—federal court sit-ins, withholding property taxes, marching on Washington, etc.—to protest “attacks” by courts on the Catholic school system.

“They can’t put 300,000 parents in jail,” he says.

But the courts are not attacking Catholic schools. The only thing being attacked is the idea that non-Catholics should be required to help support a system which Catholics seem unable to support themselves.

The obvious and traditional solution of this question would be a constitutional amendment.

As one writer has pointed out, it is time for men and women in government, from the President on down, to stop playing games with the U.S. Constitution.

If they really believe that tax monies should go to private schools, let them sponsor an amendment to bring this about “and put an end to all the sham legislation in Congress and the legislatures by lawmakers who continually pass the buck to the courts on this ever-controversial issue.”

Actually, there is a perfectly legal way by which Catholics could support their schools and at least partially ease their tax burdens. The income tax law permits donations to religious, charitable and other nonprofit institutions and organizations up to limits of 20 to 50 per cent of one’s income. Even the lower limit is not approached by most taxpayers.

If parochial schools were made tuition-free, and if Catholics increased their general giving to the church by the amount of the former tuition (with the understanding that this “surplus” would go to the schools), they could deduct it all from their adjusted gross income.

The issue, however, goes beyond mere money or the question of “equity.” At the heart of the matter is the principle of state aid to religious education.

But Do They Taste Good?

What makes prune juice taste like prune juice? Why is it that today’s store-bought tomatoes, despite their enticing appearance, often lack the flavor of the tomatoes we used to buy?

Researchers in the College of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences at the Davis campus of the University of California have been working on the prune juice question for five years, and still don’t have the answer. They do think they can answer the other question: scientists were so bent on making other changes in the tomato that they neglected keeping the flavor up to par.

The modifications in the tomato were genetically engineered to meet the needs of mechanical harvesting and shipping. It was found, for example, that the big mechanical pickers were rough on thin-skinned tomatoes—so now most of those grown for canners and processors are thick-skinned. For efficient harvesting, tomatoes that all ripen at once were needed: ergo, varieties that do this were developed. Scientists even bred a tomato that’s oblong, not round, for better rolling on conveyor belts.

The result is that tomatoes of high quality are available the year ‘round instead of for only a couple of summer months. But there is that about the flavor, and processors also complain some about the consistency of the pulp. Hence, there’s a big effort afoot to keep the desirable qualities mentioned above but also breed in better consistency and taste.

There’s new emphasis on taste panels, but this is not simply a matter of feeding people tomatoes—and prune juice, and a variety of other things—and getting their reactions. Scientists can isolate the chemical constituents that make up flavor, and these can be added or subtracted from a food item to see how it affects human taste buds.

This all sounds complicated, and it is. Scientists at Davis and in other ag colleges scattered about the country devote much hard work and know-how to the task of tailoring fruits and vegetables to human requirements. Happily, flavor is edging higher on the list of qualities to shoot for.

Workers To Bear Cost Of Social Security Hikes

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International
Social Security benefits have risen 25 per cent during the past three years—a faster rise than in any other period since the program was launched. Further increases are virtually certain to be enacted by Congress this year. The only question is whether benefits will go up 5 percent, as President Nixon recommends; 10 percent, as the Senate Finance Committee proposes; or 20 percent, as urged by Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee. Since most of the 27 million people who receive Social Security checks are voters and this is an election year, it seems likely the increase will be at least 10 per cent. The benefit boost will be welcome to all retired persons, and especially helpful to the 5 million or so, solely dependent on Social Security for income whose present benefit checks leave them well below the poverty line.

No Magic Wand
But this desirable result cannot be achieved by waving a magic wand. Somebody will have to pay for it, and there’s no mystery about who it will be.

Contrary to a widespread public impression, Social Security benefits are not financed, like private annuities, out of income earned on money paid into the trust fund during the working lives of the retired beneficiaries.

The benefits paid to people now retired come from payroll taxes imposed on people now working—and vastly exceed any sum that could be paid if the trust fund contained only the money which was put into it by its present beneficiaries.

The Social Security payroll tax now is 10.4 per cent—half of which is paid by the employer and half by the employee. It is levied against the first $9,000 of a worker’s annual wages. Thus the maximum bite on an individual employee is $468 a year.

10 Per Cent Boost
If Congress enacts a 10 per cent benefit boost, it probably will be financed by increasing from $9,000 to $10,000 the amount of wages subject to the payroll tax. That would boost the annual cost to a worker to $520, if he earns $10,000 or more a year.

If benefits are increased by 20 percent, Mills’ committee figures it will be necessary to collect the payroll tax on the first $12,000 of income, and probably to increase the percentage of the tax as well. Thus the payroll tax for a person earning $12,000 or over would go up to at least $624 a year, and probably more.

This is the price of increased benefits to older citizens. The workers who pay it may grumble, but they can look forward to the day when a new generation of worker-taxpayers will be financing their benefits.

A View From The Top

Washington

Source Of Discontent:

Our Good Living Palls, It Seems

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The eminent historian, Dr. Daniel J. Boorstin of the Smithsonian Institution, has an idea why Americans these days are making so much of their discontents and frustrations.

He thinks they don’t have enough rich living experience to set off against the things that trouble them.

How can this be? In this incredibly “democratized” society, more Americans than ever before can travel the nation and the world, watch or engage in sports and recreation, listen to music of all kinds, see drama in many forms, observe many events of history first-hand or, through television, at close second-hand.

Isn’t all this enough to take a man’s mind off his troubles? Boorstin says no. While it obviously can be and is argued that the democratizing of virtually everything is a good end, he sees one gravely dispiriting consequence.

He calls it the diluting or thinning out of experience. Too much of a good thing, gained too easily, is a bore.

Good music heard in warm, friendly settings, at concerts and other public gatherings, on ritualistic occasions, has the stamp of richness about it. But when it pours forth in an unbroken flood from department stores, restaurants, building elevators, airplanes and even street corners, it becomes a gray fog of sound dulling to the senses.

The wonders of travel to places of beauty and strangeness fade if they are seen too often, and in the inescapable company of too many others who find it easy today to make the same journeys. Can the stark grandeur of Yosemite be enjoyed fully as a mere backdrop to a colossal traffic jam?

Under the relentless glare of television’s light, the wit of the most inventive comedians falters and the graces of the most stylish actors take on a look of contrivance. The dogged manufacture of “fun” and “dramatic excitement” often ends up producing neither.

Man’s going to the moon is a monumental accomplishment, a triumph of human genius, always a perilous plunge into cold, hostile blackness. Yet, after five showings on television, the great diluter, it has no more effect on many Americans than a jaunt to the store for hair spray.

There is just too much laid out before us. And the net of that, says the perceptive Dr. Boorstin, is the thinning out of good living and the consequent magnifying of our discontents.

Specialness and rarity and true individuality are gone from much of what we do and experience. Our goal is said to be heightened opportunity for everyone to be himself. But we are learning that the process which brings that opportunity somehow steals the richness from our choices.

Young workers smothered by the tedium of the factory assembly line seek escape, to enjoy life more. Fine. But doing what? Getting into a traffic line at Yosemite?

School age rebels turns from the watered down pleasures of established society. To do what? To join often in herds on muddy hillsides to listen to scratchy, monstrous sound called “rock.” Muzak does it better in the elevators. The noise and the crowds on the hillsides are big, but the living there is thin.

In this time of liberation, we are told, the search is for “identity.” But with so many searchers looking in so many places for so much, and with the clever marketers of “experience” in close pursuit, the quest dilutes living and buries identity.

We need, instead, the boldness of real individuality, rooted in inner resource, inventive in rewarding and sustaining the self, resistant to the cries that identity lies with the crowd. Crowds pass on, and leave the streets empty.

Dear Ann Landers: My 19-year-old son is going with a girl 20. They spend almost every evening together—often at our house. The wrestling is all in good fun—or at least I THOUGHT it was fun until I noticed that sometimes they really hurt each other.

Several weeks ago the girl bit Steve so hard it broke the skin. It’s had her teethmarks on his neck for several days. Last night Steve bit her in the fleshy part of her upper arm. She screamed so loud they must have heard her in Buffalo. It bled quite a lot.

Finally I informed him that unless he could figure out some way to say “no” I would not accompany him anywhere where there might be dancing. I hope you will print my letter since it makes better sense than your mealy-mouthed, submissive approach which reflects your well-known philosophy of a long leash for husbands.—New England Nell.

Your dumb suggestion that maybe the wife ought to invite people in was the living end. If a guy is too tired to talk to his wife, why should he be bothered with company?

Thoughts

For the law was given through Moses; grace and truth came through Jesus Christ. No one has ever seen God; the only Son, who is in the bosom of the Father, he has made him known.—John 1:17, 18

The spiritual life of the world has burned during all these centuries with the pure flame first kindled by the sublime mystic of the Galleian Hills—John Morley, English statesman.

Journey To Moscow Still Test Of Nixon "Era Of Negotiations"

Editor's Note: In this dispatch UPI's chief correspondent at the U.S. State Department, who accompanied President Nixon on his history-making trip to China and also will be with the President in Moscow, assesses the problems the chief executive will face in talking with the leaders of the Soviet Union.

By STEWART HENSLEY
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Moscow summit conference looms as the stiffest test so far of the "era of negotiations" President Nixon proclaimed at his inauguration.

His talks with the Soviet leaders did not promise to be easy under the best conditions. Now they are shadowed by the new crisis over America's blockade of North Vietnam's ports and intensified bombing of the country itself including its rail supply lines from China.

As things have shaped up the Vietnam issue may dominate the conversations, but a variety of critical matters that prompted the summit—arranged prior to the new situation in Vietnam—remain on the agenda. They include:

Question of China
—How effectively will the United States be able to exploit the diplomatic breakthrough Nixon achieved with China in February?

—How well can the two nuclear superpowers adapt to a rapidly changing situation in which China, Japan and Western Europe are emerging to alter the power balance that existed between Moscow and Washington for 25 years?

—Are prospects for nuclear incineration of the human race increasing or decreasing?

The Moscow conference is entirely different from the presidential journey to Peking. The major significance of the China trip—important as it was to a diplomatic breakthrough—was that Peking permitted it to happen. Normalization of Washington-Peking relations still is a long way down the road. The Moscow talks, as set up, will be a forum for the United States and the Soviet Union to ratify if they can whatever progress already has been made on selected issues, and to agree on a formula for tackling a host of remaining problems. These do not include Vietnam, an issue both powers agree they cannot settle by themselves, just as they cannot bilaterally solve the problems in the Middle East.

Not A Social Visit
Party chairman Leonid Brezhnev has sent word to Nixon that he and Premier Alexei Kosygin want to hold the socializing and ceremonial affairs to a minimum and concentrate on the business at hand. Soviet-American tension over Vietnam has undoubtedly strengthened this desire.

American officials feel that if the White House and the Kremlin can make headway on solving bilateral disputes, this could help improve the international climate in general. These matters include:

—Agreement by Russian and American negotiators on limiting the number of defensive nuclear missiles, the so-called ABMs, and reported tentative agreement on "certain measures" to limit some offensive weapons. What is not clear is whether Nixon and Soviet leaders will sign an agreement or simply announce it as progress, pledging to work on for a broader treaty.

—The possibility of negotiations soon on a mutual reduction of forces along both sides of the Iron Curtain in Europe. Soviet officials say they will be ready for such talks by September or October. The United States, which originally proposed such discussions, doubts they can start that soon.

—Possible agreement to begin preliminary negotiations in Helsinki early in 1973 on a European security conference. The Soviet Union has been pushing this project for years, apparently believing it would serve to formalize the post-World War II boundaries and enhance the status of Communist East Germany, which the Western powers still consider a Russian-occupied puppet.

—Possible conclusion of a deal under which the United States would sell up to $200 million worth of feed grains to Russia this year. A longer term trade expansion agreement—some have suggested 10 years—may have to wait the tidying up of Russia's World War II lend-lease debt to the United States.

The Johnson Act prohibits extension of easy export-import bank credits to any country in default on such debts. Pending removal of that barrier Russia could get nothing better than three-year Commodity Credit Corporation credits.

—Several agreements of lesser importance, including a maritime pact governing access for each country's merchant ships to the other's ports could be signed to bolster the impression of progress.

Nixon will be talking with Brezhnev, Kosygin and Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny in Moscow. Podgorny, while Nixon's equal under protocol, serves essentially as a figurehead.

Kosygin, who met with President Johnson at the Glassboro summit in 1967, has been overshadowed by Brezhnev, the tough Ukrainian who now clearly is top man in the hierarchy.

It is Brezhnev who has carried on a regular correspondence with Nixon the past couple of years and who asked the President to send his adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, to Moscow to clear the decks for the summit.

OUTSIDE MY CHANH, S. VIETNAM — A North Vietnamese prisoner manages a smile after he was captured during an ARVN raid on the town of Hai Loang Monday. How To Read A Person Like A Book 14. Uncomfortable?

The suppressed gesture is one an alert observer can notice in the formation of a gesture and attempt to suppress it. With two or three men, for example, talking in a group, even the most guarded person can give himself away by the gestures he almost makes. A man who is extremely cautious about what he is saying may have his coat buttoned, and if at a party a glass in one hand and his free hand hidden in his pocket. A man doubting what this man is saying stands with a buttoned coat and hands in pocket while his facial expression indicates dislike or disbelief.

Again at a party a man may be on the defensive or uncomfortable if he crosses his legs and arms while standing or sitting. Someone may sense this withdrawal and in attempting to open up the lines of communication may gesture with his open palms and widespread hands.

Also at a party women may reveal the fact that they are close friends and comfortable in each other's presence if they sit with one leg tucked under and face each other in an open position, obviously very much interested in the other's conversation.

Mother Piano At It Again

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
NEW YORK (UPI)—Of the thousands of young musicians who graduate from the conservatories each year dedicated to the service of Mother Piano, few reach the concert stage and fewer the recording studios.

Some who do are seldom heard of thereafter. Some of the real virtuosos hardly gain the recognition they deserve.

The service to the piano is a compelling one, however, and there continue to come forth an astonishing number of good performances on records.

Some recent ones: Prometheus and Piano Concerto in F Sharp Minor (Alexander Scriabin) played by Vladimir Ashkenazy and the London Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Lorin Maazel (London CS 6732). This year is the 100th anniversary of Scriabin's birth. This record by the brilliant Russian pianist Vladimir Ashkenazy combines Scriabin's first completed orchestral score, the concerto in F completed in 1896-7, with his last, Prometheus, composed in 1908-10. The concerto is a light, elegant work in the tradition of what has gone before. Prometheus looks to the future.

Piano Sonata No. 4 in E Flat Major (Beethoven) played by Arturo Benedetti Michelangeli (DG 2530 197)—Michelangeli is a virtuoso whose technique is formidable enough to make it all seem effortless and get through to the music beyond. This and his recording of Debussy Images (DG 2530 196) are his first recordings in several years. A masterful performance.

Sonatas 8, 10, 12, 13 (Mozart) played by Glen Gould (Columbia M 31073)—Glen Gould records four of the most popular Mozart sonatas with panache. A great artist and an excellent recording.

Concerto No. 2 (Bartok) and Concerto No. 5 (Prokofiev) played by Sviatoslav Richter with the Orchestra de Paris on side one and the London Symphony Orchestra on side two, both conducted by Lorin Maazel (Angel S-36891)—Richter, of course, is one of the modern firsts, and in these two concertos he is excellent.

Concerto No. 1 and Sonata No. 5 (Beethoven) played by Stephen Bishop and the BBC (British Broadcasting Corporation) Symphony Orchestra conducted by Colin Davis (Philips 6500 179)—Bishop, a 32-year-old American based in London, is one of the younger pianists who has long since made it. His light, elegant style is evident in these two pieces of early Beethoven.

Philippine Crisis

It says this is a result of a number of divisive issues ranging from official resistance to reforms, differences between priests and bishops, poverty and calibacy.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17—Born today, you have been gifted with a high degree of insight into the drama of even the most mundane or minute situation. You know, therefore, almost as if by instinct, where and when the moment of truth resides in any situation; you know the precise moment that a turnabout is possible, the precise moment that silence is golden or speech preferred. All of which makes it easy for you to win arguments, get your points across without injury to others' pride, and-or gain supporters for your way or thinking.

Although it is possible for those who have been close to you for a long time to influence your thinking to some degree, it is usually a lost cause for anyone outside the home or outside your circle of intimate and long-standing friends to attempt to put any kind of pressure upon you. Indeed, should anyone try to persuade you against your will, you usually shock them by deciding or acting exactly opposite to their suggestions. And this, in itself, may not be especially wise either!

One who accepts whatever a given day brings, you waste little time in feeling sorry for yourself, and even less in wishing things were otherwise than they are. A realist through and through, you not only know which side your bread is buttered on, you know precisely where the butter comes from. Needless to say, you are given to protecting the source of good things as well as the things themselves.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Don't allow another's personal problems to spoil your day completely. Be of what help you can—and then go on about your own business.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Take care that you do not incur a debt you really had no intention of taking on. These are times to remain as independent as you can.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—An exciting day which may well give you the lead you've been looking for where your next project is concerned. An hour or so of research brings results.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—An understanding of present money matters is essential if you are going to try to come out ahead on your budget. Ask advice from an expert.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Take up a highly personal matter with one who you are certain will not take advantage of the situation. Have confidence in a professional opinion.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—A day which may well test your degree of expertise on the job. A highly exacting morning leads into a relaxed afternoon, however.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—A moment's weakness could place you in a situation which will plague you for weeks. Make every effort to keep your wits about you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Your love of little things makes this an especially happy day for you. Children do much to make your wishes come true toward evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—The promise of another made some time ago appears on the verge of being fulfilled at this time. Don't rush things or you may spoil results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Turn your attention to one who needs it. Members of the opposite sex are especially attractive to you today; keep your emotions in check.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—Gain the admiration of co-workers and family members through your understanding of a difficult situation. Keep your temper and you'll keep your advantage.

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—Another's strength may be twice yours—but this is a day when brain will tell over brawn. Consider yourself lucky to have the advantage.

PARENTS WITHOUT PARTNERS TO VISIT SALEM PARK SUNDAY

Parents without Partners are planning a trip to New Salem State Park this coming Sunday, May 21st. Visitors are cordially invited to join the group. For further information, phone 882-5366 or 245-4310.

Those attending are to provide own sack lunch and the group will meet at 11 a.m. at Lincoln Square Shopping Center, under the large sign. This trip is of special interest to PWP members as the group's publicity chairman, Webster Krems, helped to build the old Grist Mill located at the park near the highway. This was when Krems was with the Civilian Conservation Corps in 1941. He will describe through first-hand experience how the trees were cut down with the old-fashioned two-man crosscut saw and logs hewn out with an axe, using the same building technique used in the time of Abraham Lincoln.

Travel Talk

Thelma Bacon Pinson
What makes travel exciting? The magic word is change! Each trip is exciting, whether it's the first or the fifteenth, because of the change it promises — new places and people, different foods, different customs, perhaps even a different language. Two things in particular help make any trip a pleasure: an open mind that lets you enjoy everything you experience and useful information to help you get where you are going and make the most of your stay. In travel, the unexpected is always possible. The trick is to take it in stride and even, when you can, turn it to your advantage. All travel begins at THRIFT TRAVEL SERVICE, Dunlap Hotel, 245-7315, where experienced counselors give personal attention to all phases of your trip. There are no extra charges for our services and we can even provide you with baggage and accident insurance. Stop by and see us before you start your next trip — all of us at THRIFT TRAVEL SERVICE are anxious to serve you.

Superstar At IHS May 18-19

The Jacksonville High School choir, under direction of John Hayter, will present a concert version of the rock opera, Jesus Christ, Superstar at 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday evenings, May 18 and 19, in the high school auditorium.

Soloists are Mary Magdalene, Debbie Smock and Mary Bigge, who will appear on alternate nights; Judas, Rick Murphy; Jesus, David Clapper; Herod, John Watson; Pilate, Ron Choate; Caiaphas, the high priest, Jim Holmes; first apostle, Mike Brandenburg; second apostle, Steve Foster; and third apostle, Allen Prewitt.

The choir and soloists will be accompanied by a rock band: piano, Rachelan Bienert, Jean Curtis and Rick Murphy; percussion, Shane Denny; bass guitar, Jeff Marshall; guitar, Bill Griffe.

This show has been somewhat controversial in some cities, the controversy appearing to be over the title, which offends some. Mr. Hayter is quoted as saying, "People are invited to come to the performance and decide for themselves whether or not the content of the show is offensive."

Tickets are on sale at the Tunes Shop, the high school office and from choir members. Prices are $1.25 for adults, 75 cents for District 117 students and $1 for other students. Tickets may also be ordered by calling 243-4384.

Initiation For Ambucs May 17

Twelve new members of the Ambucs will be formally installed at the organization's luncheon meeting Wednesday, May 17th, at the Holiday Inn according to membership chairman Terry Lease. The meeting Wednesday will be conducted by president Bob Linde.

The inductees are Don Winkelman, Don Hazelrigg, Don Alcorn, Dave Batty, Harold Cook, Don Evans, Bob Northrop, Dean Andres, Bud Vandiver, Don Wheel, Jim Downer and Danny Farmer.

There were forty members at last week's meeting when Randy Weber from the Sherwood Eddy YMCA spoke on the summer activities at the "Y." Ed Marquard picked up the 50-50 loot last week.

Members are reminded of the May 23rd stag which the Big Hat club is sponsoring at the Jerry Taylor residence.

The club's softball team starts regular play this week with a game at 9:15 p.m. Thursday at the State Hospital diamond. Players are to report at the location by 8:45 p.m. so lineup can be made.

PLANTING WINDBREAKS for Passavant Memorial Area Hospital was accomplished last week by members of the hospital maintenance staff. Instructions in the operation of the tree-planting machine, pulled by a tractor, were given by a two-member forestry crew headed by Wayne O'Dell. The Department of Conservation, Division of Forestries, office in Pittsfield serves the Jacksonville area. The seedlings were supplied at cost by the state. Several varieties of pine trees were planted for a windbreak along the north side. When the trees are grown the windbreak is expected to reduce dust, noise and snow on the hospital grounds and parking lots. This picture shows a demonstration planting underway for the benefit of the hospital employees.

A PUBLIC HEARING to consider the closing of public roads in Morgan County that intersect the proposed Central Illinois Supplemental Freeway (Federal Aid Primary Route 408) will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday, May 25, in the Council Chambers of the Jacksonville Municipal Building, 200 W. Douglas St., Jacksonville.

Transportation Secretary William F. Cellini said the public is invited to participate in the discussion.

The closures to be considered are:

ROAD DISTRICT 8—T. 15N. R. 8-9W. of the 3d P. M.—Township Road 382 (N. & S.) (Harold Cockin rd. in the center of Section 20. R. 8W. —TR 304 (N. & S.) (Kennett rd.) along the E. line of the W. 1/4 of Section 16 and Section 21 R. 9W. —TR 254 (N. & S.) (John Holley rd.) along the W. line of the E. 1/2 of S.E. 1/4 of Section 18 and the W. line of the E. 1/2 of the N.E. 1/4 of Section 19, R. 9 W.

ROAD DISTRICT 7—T. 15N. R. 10W. of the 3d P.M. — TR 232 (N. & S.) (George Fox rd.) in the N.E. 1/4 of Section 24. — TR 216 (N.) (Hullett rd.) near the W. line of Section 25. The portion south of F.A.P. 408 will be relocated and connected to U.S. Rte. 36.

ROAD DISTRICT 10—T. 14N. R. 10W. of the 3d P.M. — TR 197 (N. & S.) (Everett Reynolds rd.) in the center of Section 3.

The roads described will normally be closed at the access control lines of the supplemental freeway.

Maps showing the proposed closures will be on display prior to, during and following the hearing for inspection by the public.

Personnel of the Illinois Department of Transportation will be present to discuss individual problems concerning the closures, prior to and after the hearing, Cellini said.

Inquiries prior to the public hearing date should be made to H. W. Monroney at District 6 office of the department, 126 E. Ash St., Springfield.

the large external bag to encase the whole heart. When the layer that covers the surface of the heart and the underlying heart muscle itself is inflamed, we call it pericarditis.

Inflammation of the sac around the heart can be caused by many things. An individual with pneumonia can have an extension of the infection to involve the sac around the heart. It can also be caused by chemical reactions. Advanced uremia can cause chemical irritation of the pericardium and uremic pericarditis. It can also be caused by an extension of cancer and it can follow a myocardial infarction (heart attack).

If you read my column often, you will know that I have previously explained that the ending "itis" used in medicine means inflammation and all the word pericarditis means inflammation of the pericardium, just like appendicitis means inflammation of the appendix. The problem can be caused by a wide variety of germs, including tuberculosis.

Many cases of pericarditis are caused by virus infections and are called viral pericarditis. This is probably the most common form. Like most other virus diseases, there are not many things you can do to treat the problem except provide medicine to give symptomatic relief to the patient at the time. This might well include aspirin to control fever, medicines for relief of pain and tranquilizers.

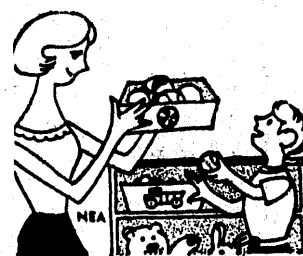

Occasionally a person does have recurrent chest pains after such an episode, because the arteries to the heart muscle pass directly underneath the sac that is attached to the surface of the heart and scarring and fibrosis from pericarditis can put pressure on the arteries and diminish the blood flow to the heart muscle. This can result in angina or chest pain associated with insufficient

Storage Space For Toys Made Of Old Bookshelves

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—S.W. who needs help with planning storage for her kid's toys could utilize the old diaper bags she has on hand by using them to hold small toys. They could be attached to the outside of the toy box like big pockets. Another space saver is to attach a big cloth pocket on the inside of a large toy box. A big, old purse or school satchel could also hold small things and just be tossed in the box. If shelves are to be made for such storage use, measure the height of the items to be stored and space the shelves so they fit. This will save space as well as one's temper and the item can be removed without everything else falling out. A half shelf on one side would leave space for taller things on the other.—ALVA

DEAR POLLY—I am answering S.W. who is worried about shelf space and a toy container for her son's room. Old bookshelves can be used quite effectively to solve such a storage problem. These can be bought reasonably at secondhand stores, auctions, bargain shops, etc. She should buy those of a height that her son could easily reach. Paint them white or a preferred color to match the room's decor. Buy colored plastic dishpans in the desired color or colors that would fit between the shelves. Smaller toys could be stored in these pans and the larger things placed on the shelves. If her son cannot read, she could cut out and paste on magazine pictures of toys similar to those that go in each dishpan so he can tell at a glance which toys are where and also know where to return them. I do hope this helps S.W.—MRS. R.E.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—One pair of my slacks always come home from the dry cleaners with a ruined elastic waistband. I have replaced this several times and wonder if anyone has a solution for such a problem.—MRS. D.M.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with the newspapers that have no regular spot reserved for features like Polly's Pointers, Dear Ann or Dear Abby and the television schedule. If that is impossible a listing on the index or front page would aid us in finding those columns we want to see first.—A NEBRASKA READER

DEAR POLLY—Fasten a long pipe cleaner on the underneath side of a turtle-neck collar and find it will stand up better and will not wrinkle.—MRS. H.H.

CHARGES AGAINST KERNER SHOULD BE DISMISSED; LAWYER

CHICAGO (AP) — Charges of conspiracy, bribery and fraud against former Gov. Otto Kerner should be dismissed, his attorney claims, because a government check on Kerner's mail was an "unconstitutional invasion of privacy."

Although not charging the government with examining the contents of the mail, "the act itself (the check) has serious implications," Harold Unger said Monday during pretrial motions filed in U.S. District Court.

The government has admitted it recorded the names and addresses of senders and recipients of Kerner's mail. Unger called it a "clandestine intrusion into the private affairs of a sitting judge."

Kerner is currently on leave from the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

He and four other persons are charged in connection with Illinois race-track stock dealings. Kerner and former state revenue director Theodore J. Isaac allegedly reaped windfall profits from the stock transactions.

The other defendants are Joseph E. Knight, former state director of financial institutions; William S. Miller, former Illinois Racing Board chairman; and Faith McQuinn, Miller's personal secretary.

Arguments on a defense motion charging U.S. Atty. James R. Thompson with helping the prosecution's star witness, Marjorie Everett, obtain a license from the California Racing Board were put off.

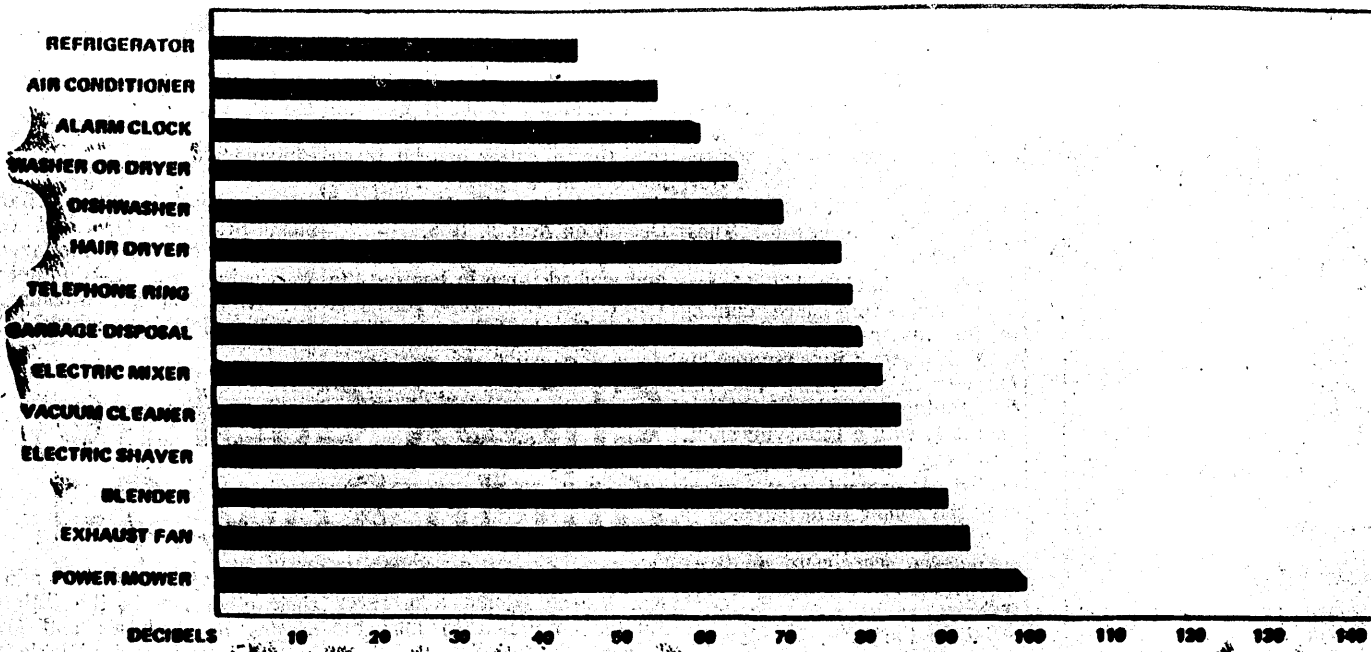

The motion claimed Thompson violated federal law which prohibits giving help to a prospective witness.

Household Appliances Contribute To Noise Pollution

NOISEMAKERS IN THE HOME

DECIBELS	SOUND	EFFECT
0	No sound
30	Whisper, rustling leaves	Barely detected
50	Light conversation, air conditioners
85	Appliances, noisy offices and factories	Irritating; gradual hearing loss
100	Power mowers, construction noise	Temporary deafness from exposure
120	Loud rock music, jet takeoff	Painful, possible damage
140	Heavy artillery	Permanent ear damage

SPRINGFIELD — Turn on the blender and the baby cries. Our reaction is to soothe the infant, frightened by the sudden loud noise. But from what we are learning about noise, a better move would be to hush the blender instead.

That small appliance, when it's grinding away at 92 decibels, is exceeding the maximum noise level permitted for industrial workers during an eight-hour period, remarked John S. Moore, head of the noise pollution control section of the Environmental Protection Agency.

When a number of noisy kitchen appliances are whirling, churning, clunking and whining, the noise level may reach 100 decibels. (Screaming children, too, can reach the 90-decibel-plus range.)

Noise is measured in decibels (db). The A-weighted scale (db-A) is used to register high frequency noise, which is more irritating to the human ear than lower frequencies.

The scale is logarithmic, meaning that every six decibels the sound pressure level doubles. Zero on the scale is the point at which no sound is heard. A whisper, for example, registers at about 30 db-A, and a quiet conversation about 50 db-A. Most noise charts set 90 db-A as the level of annoyance, which means that only the plain, old fashioned refrigerator gets a quiet rating. When they begin plinking out ice cubes and defrosting themselves, refrigerators join the list of kitchen noisemakers like dishwashers (70-80 db-A), garbage disposals (80-100 db-A), trash compactors (70-90 db-A), mixers (80-90 db-A) and exhaust fans (80-90 db-A).

Though a quiet vacuum cleaner may register only 70 db-A, a "high-powered" one can reach 100 db-A, the noise level of a power mower.

Workers in noisy offices and factories, housewives, farmers and city dwellers are often exposed to noise levels above 85 db, which noise experts say causes a gradual loss of hearing, and especially the loss of ability to understand speech.

The noise in cities is increasing at an alarming rate, they warn. Street noise during rush hour often reaches 95 db-A; construction equipment, 100 db-A; an elevated train hitting a curve, 120 db-A. To make the problem even worse for city dwellers, apartment buildings are rarely constructed to keep out the street noise, or even the noise from the next apartment.

At 120 db-A, the sound is painful to the human ear—amplified rock music, a thunderclap, or a jet takeoff at close range all reach this level. Noise of 140 db-A can cause permanent damage to the ear.

Besides noisy home and work environments, our most popular recreational vehicles are incredibly noisy. Motorcycles, which are frequently left unmuffled to give the impression of extra power, often reach 115 db-A for the driver, as do many types of snowmobiles and motor driven boats. Persons 50 feet away from these noisemakers are subjected to noise over 100 db-A.

For years we have failed to realize how pervasive noise has become. It was considered an occupational problem, and maximum noise levels were established for industrial workers. At present, under federal law, the loudest continuous noise a worker can be exposed to during an eight-hour day is 90 decibels, a difficult level for many industries to meet.

The gradual loss of hearing that comes from old age was thought to be inevitable. But when people were discovered in a remote area of Africa who, at age 70, could hear whispered words at a distance of 100 yards, we realized that our deafness is excessive, and that it affects all people in an industrialized society, not just the factory workers.

Dr. Samuel Rosen, an outstanding surgeon and noise researcher, compared the hearing acuity of people from the African Sudan with residents of New York City; Düsseldorf, Germany; and Cairo, Egypt.

He found that hearing ability of all groups was similar up to about age 30, when city dwellers suffered a gradual decline. The Africans, living in a noise-free environment, had a sharp sense of hearing into their 70's.

But hearing loss is not the only "noise illness," warns Robert Alex Baron, author of "The Tyranny of Noise" and a founder of Citizens for a Quieter City, the New York group that introduced a rubber-rimmed, non-clanging garbage can.

Noise, Baron says, is a stress on the body, whether we feel the stress or not. Our sense of hearing is involuntary: when the brain gets a sound signal over 70 db-A, it tenses the body. The nervous system automatically reacts, narrowing the blood vessels (especially dangerous for persons with heart disease). Excess adrenalin pours into the system the heart beats rapidly, skin pales, pupils dilate, and the stomach, esophagus and intestines are seized by spasms.

Chicagoan Theodore Berland, president of the national group, Citizens Against Noise, describes in his book, "The Fight for Quiet," how noise affects our mental health. Noise interferes with communication, and loud noise inspires fear, he says. But Berland asserts that noise-induced loss of sleep is the most serious problem. Even though a person may be able to sleep through noise, according to Berland, it interferes with rest, and prolonged loss of sleep causes a person to become irritable, mentally disorganized and even temporarily insane.

Because of its effect on people, noise has been blamed for headaches, tension, emotional outbursts, violence, ulcers, fatigue, strained family relationships and other common problems.

Research on the psychological effects of noise is more recent. Some persons seem to be more sensitive to noise than others, and some noisy situations are more irritating than others.

Dr. Rosen states that "People exposed to prolonged noise are more inclined to argue, fight, or fly off the handle suddenly." Studies have shown that people living near busy airports have a higher incidence of mental illness than other population groups. Other research shows that noise causes work efficiency to decline.

Only recently, researchers have learned that noise penetrates the womb, and doctors are concerned about the effects of prolonged or sudden loud noise on the developing fetus. Some psychiatrists believe that the "hyperkinetic child" and the "tired mother syndrome" may be related to the excessive sensory stimulation of a noisy home atmosphere.

But even an urban, industrialized society isn't doomed to eternal din, noise abatement experts say. The same technology that designed the noisy machines can be applied to making them quieter.

In our homes, we can add carpeting, acoustical ceiling tile, padding and other sound

Homemakers Extension Program And Events

Mrs. R. A. Patterson presented the major lesson, Rug and Carpet Care to 17 members of the South Jacksonville Home Extension Unit at the home of Mrs. Russell Verner, 1451 South East street May 4th. Mrs. Arnold Burke was the assistant hostess.

Mrs. Patterson outlined types of soil and proper care for the cleaners mentioned were those for light vacuuming in areas used daily, change of furniture location to minimize wear, remove spots immediately, use of throw rugs, reversing of rugs and having rugs and carpets professionally cleaned periodically. Booklets were distributed to the members. A discussion followed the lesson.

Mystery Surrounds Release Of McLain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Denny McLain took pills to lose weight but lost his strength, his fast ball, and his job with the Oakland Athletics.

McLain, a 28-year-old right-hander who was the major league's only 30-game winner in more than three decades, would not confirm Tuesday whether or not he will report to Birmingham of the Southern Association.

The A's said McLain was expected to join the Birmingham team but did not know when. Manager Dick Williams of the A's said he believed McLain would be foolish to do otherwise. McLain refused to speak to a newsman who contacted him in San Francisco.

Dr. Charles Hudson, an A's team physician, cleared up the mystery surrounding McLain's loss of speed on his fast ball with this statement:

"Mr. McLain has been complaining of some loss of strength and cramping in his extremities. It was determined he had been taking diuretic pills for some period of time prior to joining the Oakland A's."

The statement, which Hudson said he prepared with McLain, said the pills, "caused some weight loss along with loss of fluid. However, it also allows kidneys to lose other important chemicals, including potassium. Loss of potassium in particular is known to cause muscle weakness. On examination it was discovered that blood levels of potassium were low."

"Replacement therapy has been started and previous medications were stopped by Mr. McLain. It is felt that Denny McLain will regain his strength in the very near future."

Such diet pills are normally used in controlling fluid retention in heart disease, the statement said, and Dr. Hudson added McLain was taking pills to lose weight.

Hudson said he did not know how many pounds McLain wanted to lose and what he now weighs. Last spring McLain was listed at 5-foot-11, 185 pounds.

The A's announced Monday that McLain had been optioned to Birmingham, with Williams saying in Anaheim:

"He just wasn't throwing as hard as we know he can. I don't think he has the velocity he had in the past."

Another spokesman for the team said:

"McLain's record is 1-2. He has been knocked out of the box in his last four starts. His earned run average is 6.05. He has given up four home runs in his last five games. That seems reason enough to send him to the minors."

McLain was the toast of baseball in 1968 when he posted 31 victories for the Detroit Tigers, but hit the depths two years later when he was suspended a half-season for alleged involvement in bookmaking.

By the end of the 1968 season, however, McLain was taking cortisone shots for his pitching arm. Whether McLain was having any recurrence of that trouble was not known, but the A's trainer, Joe Romo, said there was nothing wrong with McLain's pitching arm.

Williams said he felt McLain would report to Birmingham because of his $75,000 salary. "He'd be foolish not to with that contract," the Oakland manager said.

McLain, who could be recalled by Oakland should he regain his form, would be pitching at Birmingham under terms of his major league contract.

After winning 24 games for Detroit in 1968, McLain was only 3-5 in 1970 when he was suspended for the first half of the season. He was suspended again at the end of that season for throwing buckets of water over the heads of two Detroit sports writers.

Murcer's Hit Boosts Yankees Past Indians 3-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bobby Murcer's first hit in 23 at-bats touched off a three-run uprising in the fifth inning that enabled the New York Yankees to beat the Cleveland Indians 3-1 Tuesday night behind the four-hit pitching of Mike Kekich and Sparky Lyle.

The Yankees scored their runs at the expense of Steve Hargan, making his first start after pitching only two innings all season.

After Murcer singled with one out, Roy White walked and Ron Blomberg drove in one run with a double.

Thurman Munson drove in the second run with a grounder to third baseman Graig Nettles, whose throw to the plate was too late to get White. Rich McKinney's single made it 3-0 and finished Hargan.

Kekich, 3-2, allowed four hits but only one runner got past first base through the first seven innings.

When Kekich walked Adolfo Phillips to lead off the eighth, Lyle came on. The reliever walked Del Unser but retired the next three batters, although Phillips scored on a long fly and an infield out.

Turner, Crimson's Take 1-0 Triumph

Bill Turner hurled a near perfect game and Matt Friesen got the big hit as Jacksonville High School nipped Pittsfield 1-0 Tuesday afternoon in the JHS Regional Tournament.

The victory, the Crimson's ninth against six losses this season, boosts JHS into today's championship game against Jerseyville, 14-3. The Regional winner moves next week to the Springfield Sectional to take on the Springfield Regional victor.

Turner, a junior right-hander with a 6-1 mark to date, allowed only one hit in the snappy one hour, ten minute contest, a clean single to right center by Belford in the fifth inning. Turner fanned six batters and walked only one batter, surviving four fielding mistakes behind him. Pittsfield, eliminated with a 13-4 slate, did not get a runner to third base and had only one man get as far as second.

The Crimson's, likewise, had their bats silenced by Sauklee ace Jim Jenkins. The Pittsfield senior southpaw fanned eight batters and issued two free tickets but was touched for a run in the third inning.

Fred Schaus Takes Post At Purdue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fred Schaus, who helped build the Los Angeles Lakers into champions of the National Basketball Association, said Tuesday he is returning to college coaching with the Purdue Boilermakers.

"I'm 46 years of age," the Lakers' general manager said from his firm office, "and I feel if I'm going to make a move, this is the time to make it."

His appointment to succeed long-time friend and former coaching associate George King at Purdue was announced in West Lafayette, Ind., earlier Tuesday.

Schaus said there were two main factors in his decision. "First, I missed college coaching the last few years. My wife and I missed the college-town environment. In West Lafayette, there are 20,000 people in the community totally involved with the college."

King was an assistant under Schaus at West Virginia before Schaus left along with Jerry West, Schaus to coach and West to play. The Mountaineers under Schaus captured six Southern Conference championships in as many seasons.

Schaus coached the Lakers for seven years, compiling a 315-245 record and winning four Western Division titles but no NBA championship.

Through trades and purchases made in the past five years when Schaus has been general manager, the Lakers came up with a team this past season that won a record 33 consecutive games, a record 69 regular season games and beat New York for its first championship since moving to Los Angeles in 1960.

"The very fact that we did win this year—giving our fans the world championship—made my decision a great deal easier," Schaus said. But he added: "I'm not saying I would not have accepted this opportunity had we lost."

Schaus said as general manager "I was involved with basketball, in scouting and as a spectator. But you kinda miss it. Only coaches who've been in it for a long time can fully appreciate what I'm saying. It gets in your blood. You want to get back on the court and in the dressing room. Coaches around the country will understand."

King, who had succeeded Schaus as head coach at West Virginia, said: "I have often said that I would not give up the coaching job unless I had the right man for the job. Fred Schaus is the right man."

Shatter Phils, 8-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chicago's Rick Monday crashed three consecutive home runs, driving in five runs to back the three-hit pitching of rookie Burt Hooton as the Cubs crushed the Philadelphia Phillies 8-1 Tuesday night.

Monday, having his biggest home run game since coming to the major leagues in 1966 with Kansas City, began his barrage in the Cubs' four-run first inning against Billy Champion, 3-1, with a three-run clout.

In the third, Monday unloaded a one-out shot, again over the center field fence.

In the fourth, the Phils finally got on the scoreboard as Greg Luzinski's sixth homer of the year.

But in the fifth, Monday hit his third homer of the game and fifth of the season, this one off Darrell Brandon. It was the 190th time in major league history that a batter has hit three homers in a game. The last time was by Bill Freehan of Detroit on Aug. 9, 1971.

Hooton, 3-3, struck out eight and walked three in beating the Phils for the second time this year. He hurled a no-hitter against them the second day of the season.

Chisox Capture 6th In Row, 2-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Stan Bahnsen, Vicente Romo and Terry Forster combined to hurl the Chicago White Sox to their sixth straight victory, a 2-1 decision over the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night.

The triumph was the 13th in 14 home games for the White Sox, who climbed within 1 1/2 games of the Twins, leaders in the American League west.

Chicago jumped in front in the third inning on one-out singles by Pat Kelly and Mike Andrews and a sacrifice fly by Carlos May. The Sox added their other run in the fifth on singles by Andrews and May and an infield out by Richie Allen.

Bahnsen, 4-4, had a one-hit shutout going into the sixth when he gave up a run in singles to George Mitterwald, Cesar Tovar and Steve Braun. Romo came in to get Harmon Killebrew to foul out, ending the threat.

Romo gave up a one-out single to Tovar in the eighth and Forster took over and retired the last five batters.

Cater, Miller Provide 5-1 Win For Red Sox

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Danny Cater, a seventh-inning defensive replacement, singled in the tie-breaking run in the 10th and rookie Rick Miller followed with a three-run homer, powering Ray Culp and the Boston Red Sox to a 5-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers Tuesday night.

Culp, 3-3, had a five-hit shutout until rookie Darrell Porter slammed his first home run of the season to send the contest into overtime.

Timmy Harper opened the Boston 10th with a double off reliever Ken Sanders and one out later, Reggie Smith was purposely passed. But Cater, a replacement for first baseman Diane Josephson—who singled home the game's first run against Ken Brest in the fourth inning—laced a run-scoring single and Miller belted his third home run.

Over the season in singles action, Vanter finishes with a record of 7-8, with Armstrong closing at 8-4. Linebacker is 13-1, Fernandez 10-4, Kent 6-4, and Brockhouse 10-1. Vanter and Kent will take a 10-4 record to Champlain in the doubles. Armstrong and Linebacker close at 9-2 and Linebacker and St. Bert finish at 8-2.

Rookie's Double Sparks Orioles To 8-3 Victory

DETROIT (AP) — A two-run double by Rookie John Oates and a towering solo homer by Boog Powell, plus a long, stellar relief job by Doyle Alexander, led the Baltimore Orioles to an 8-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers Tuesday night.

Alexander relieved Mike Cuellar with one out in the first inning after Cuellar had given up two Tiger runs. From then on Alexander gave up just three hits, including a solo homer by Norm Cash in the fourth, to even his record at 1-1.

Baltimore scored three runs in the fourth off Tom Timmerman, 8-8, on consecutive doubles by Powell and Brooks Robinson, a walk to Paul Blair and Oates' double.

Cash's homer tied the score 3-3 before Powell blasted a 415-foot homer off the upper deck (seats in right-center field).

the Cards their sixth straight setback.

St. Louis struck for a run in the top of the first on Ted Sizemore's single and Joe Torre's triple before the Pirates unloaded against Rick Wise, 3-2, in the bottom of the inning.

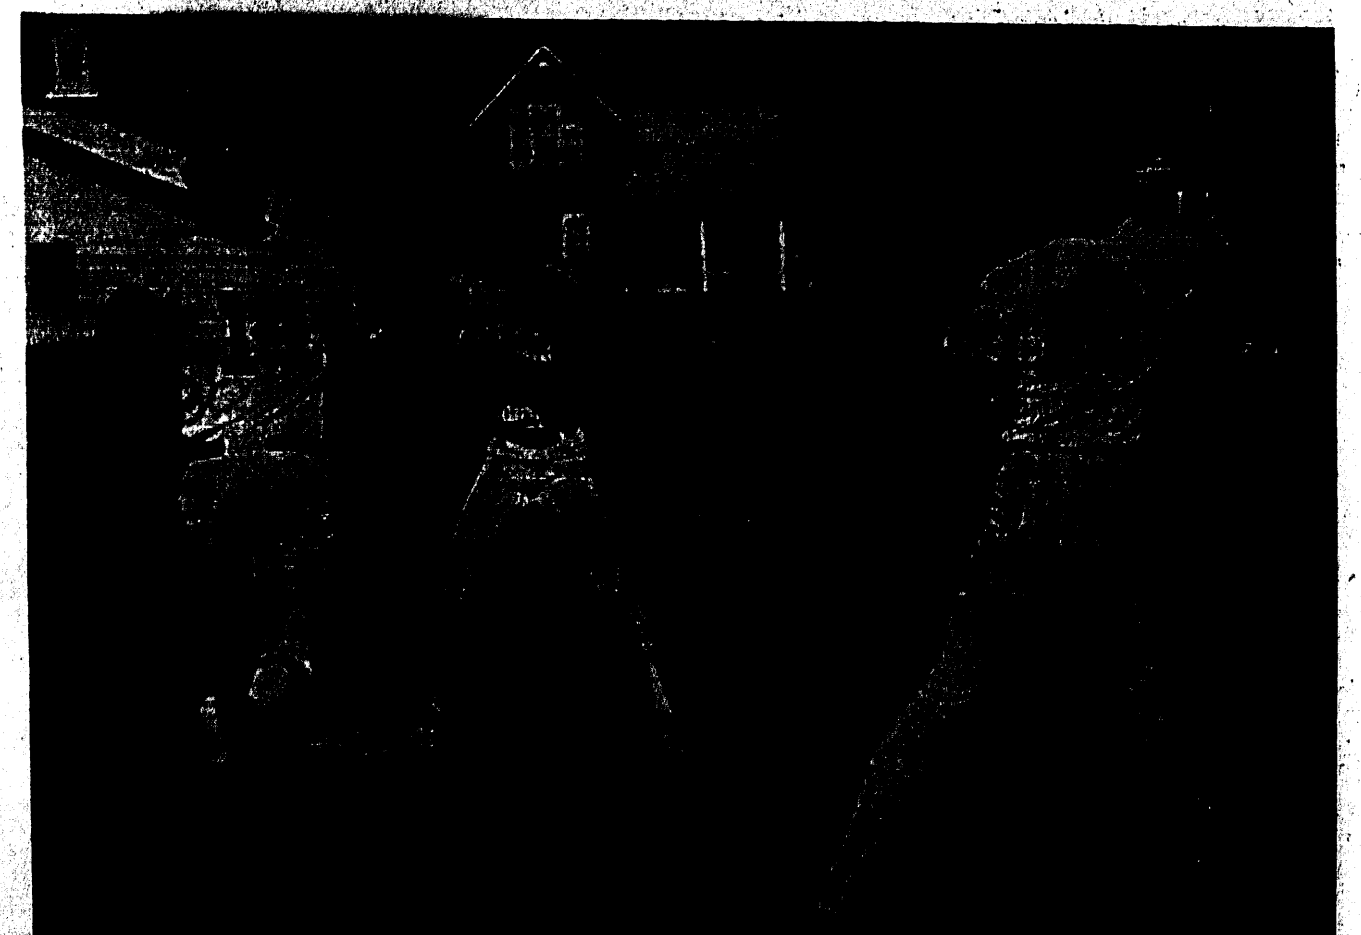

Dave Cash's single, a walk to Roberto Clements and Willie

Stargell's run-scoring double preceded Hebner's fifth homer of the year.

Rooker 4 Hitter Guides Royals By Rangers 5-0

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jim Rooker tossed a four-hitter and the Kansas City Royals capitalized on a pair of Texas errors for a 5-0 victory over the Rangers Tuesday night.

The Royals picked up their first run in the second inning without a hit. Cokie Rojas hit a grounder that went through third baseman Dave Nelson's legs with one out. Rojas raced all the way to second and took third on a passed ball. John Mayberry grounded to Lenny Randle, who made a wild throw that let Rojas score.

Amos Ots started the Royals on their way to another run in the sixth when he struck out, but reached first on a passed ball. He stole second and went to third on Richie Schenblum's single and scored on Lou Piniella's sacrifice fly.

Jim Panther, third of four Texas pitchers, walked Ots and Schenblum in succession in the seventh with the bases loaded. Piniella's sacrifice fly then sent Fred Patek across.

Rich Hand, 0-3, held Kansas City hitless until Piniella singled with one out in the fourth. The four hits off Rooker, 2-0, were all singles.

Tabb's Blast Lets Tulsa Top Billikins, 12-10

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Jerry Tabb, a Tulsa infielder, slammed a 386-foot home run Tuesday as Tulsa stormed past St. Louis University 12-10 in the Missouri Valley Conference baseball tournament.

The victory moved Tulsa, the nation's third-ranked team, into the tourney's semifinal round opposite Memphis State Wednesday. In other action, New Mexico State eliminated Louisville 1-0 while Bradley ousted Drake 6-2, and Memphis State nipped West Texas State 3-2 in 10 innings.

New Mexico State's Greg Trammell limited Louisville to two hits in his pitching performance. The sophomore southpaw fanned five and walked two as New Mexico State upped its record to 32-10 and sent Louisville home at 12-27. Trammell's five strikeouts gave him a school record.

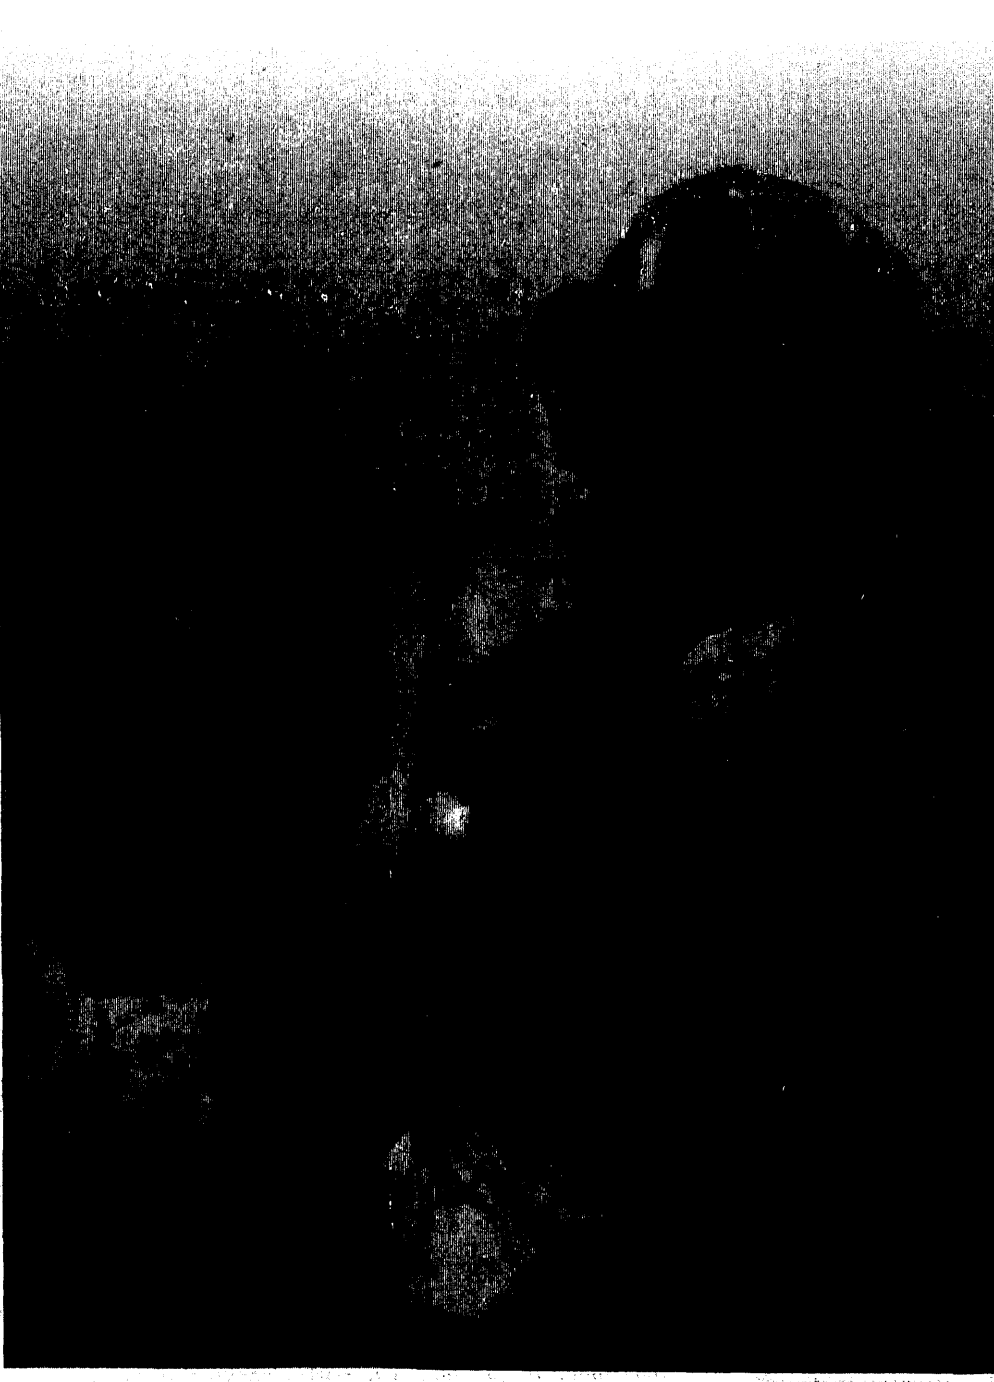

The MVC's baseball champion will be crowned Thursday. West Texas State plays New Mexico State, Bradley meets St. Louis and Tulsa plays Memphis State Wednesday in the semifinals.

Seaver Nabs 6th; New York Wins 7-3

NEW YORK (AP) — Bud Harrelson broke out of a batting slump with a two-run double in a four-run second inning and Tom Seaver became the National League's first six-game winner as the New York Mets beat the Montreal Expos 7-3 Tuesday night.

Harrelson, who hadn't had a hit in his last 13 at-bats, capped the decisive rally with his two-run shot that gave Seaver a 4-0 lead.

Seaver, 6-1, wasn't able to hold onto a 5-1 lead in the sixth and failed to go the distance for the fourth straight time when he gave Montreal two runs on bases-loaded walks.

Chuck Taylor came in with the bases loaded and one out and got John Boccabella on a pop-up and pinch-hitter Ron Woods on a grounder.

Jim Fregosi, who also drove in two runs, capped a two-run rally for the Mets in the seventh with an RBI single. Rusty Staub added a home run for New York.

Montreal starter Carl Morton, the victim of the four-run second, lost his third game in four decisions.

Art Pollard Is Injured In Crash

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Veteran driver Art Pollard, who had already qualified for the May 27 Indianapolis 500-mile race, suffered a broken left leg Tuesday when his car lost a wheel and slammed into the wall during practice.

Pollard, 45, of Medford, Ore., was driving the same Lola racer he qualified in the third row on Sunday.

The car veered out of control after losing the right rear wheel in the north short chute between turns three and four.

It spun around 1 1/2 times, hit the retaining wall on the left side of the car and slid along the wall for 720 feet.

Pollard had just recorded a one-lap speed of 184.539 miles per hour when the accident occurred.

WHA Closes Session With Ten Teams

QUEBEC (AP) — The board of trustees of the World Hockey Association completed its two-day meeting Tuesday and left here with the same number of clubs it arrived with—10.

It had been expected that groups from Philadelphia and Montreal would be accepted to bring the newly-formed professional hockey league to 12 clubs.

But WHA president Gary Davidson of Santa Ana, Calif., told the closing news conference that "a couple of contingencies and slight conditions" left the Philadelphia application still alive, but postponed for the present. The Montreal group never did show at the meetings, the president said.

Davidson said it had been an excellent meeting and that the league had "solidified" through it. "We're actually three months ahead of schedule thanks to an excellent meeting," he added.

The league, which expects to begin playing hockey in four Canadian and six United States cities this fall, has set June 1 as a deadline for accepting more franchises.

WHA officials said they are looking for further applications after May 25. On that date the National Hockey League will meet to consider further expansion into at least two U.S. cities.

HEARD NOW SECOND IN PGA EARNINGS

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Heard, who picked up $25,100 in winning the Colonial National Invitation last weekend, has moved into second place on pro golf's money winning list.

The purse boosted Heard's total for the season to $108,436, still well off the pace being set by Jack Nicklaus with $154,273. Nicklaus didn't play at Fort Worth.

The latest money list was released Tuesday by the PGA's Tournament Players Division. Heard moved up from fourth, replacing George Archer, who missed the cut at Colonial.

The Top Ten Money Winners: 1. Nicklaus, $154,273; 2. Heard, $108,436; 3. Archer, $104,600; 4. Tom Weiskopf, $89,957; 5. Bruce Crampton, $82,796; 6. Bobby Mitchell, $82,102; 7. Bob Murphy, $68,794; 8. Grier Jones, $68,088; 9. Bob Rosburg, $65,383; 10. Lee Trevino, $62,516.

McLain Claims He Will Return

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Denny McLain, in one respect, is like all ballplayers.

He says he'll be back. Maybe he will, but don't hold your breath because a majority of ballplayers who say that when they're 28 and sent to the minors don't come back, and in Denny McLain's case, that good strong right arm of his which won 31 ball games only four years ago, isn't nearly so good and strong any more.

McLain, once the most celebrated figure in all baseball, was sent back to the bushes Monday night. The Oakland A's sent him to Birmingham of the Class AA Southern League where the pace isn't so fast and where he'll have a lot more time to think.

If he thinks straight, he will come up with the inescapable conclusion that only one person is responsible for his being where he is today. And that person is Denny McLain.

McLain knows the rules as well as anybody else.

Any ballplayer with eight years major league service cannot be sent to the minors without his permission.

McLain could have said, uh, uh, when Charlie Finley tried to send him to the minors Monday night had he three years in. He would have had them were it not for those two suspensions. Bowie Kuhn slapped on him in 1970. The first one was for being involved in gambling activities and the second for carrying a gun.

Charlie Finley knows the rules, too.

He knew if McLain was still on the Oakland roster Monday, May 15, he'd have to pay him in full, meaning $75,000, even if he released him.

Finley, who's a little funny about money, wasn't about to let that happen.

He removed McLain from the roster for Monday night's game with the California Angels before consigning him to Birmingham, the third club McLain has been with this year. He began the year with the Texas Rangers and they peddled him to Oakland early in the spring. Soon McLain is going to run out of ballclubs.

The former Cy Young Award winner says he'll be back, the same way they all do, but you have to wonder.

Particularly if you're a big believer in astrology.

Denny McLain is an Aries. That means he was born under the same sign as such other famous personalities as Charlie Chaplin, Arturo Toscanini, Tennessee Williams, Vincent van Gogh and Mike Killy.

Individuals born under the sign of Aries are unreconstructed rebels who like to defy authority and figure they're two jumps ahead of everybody else. That's Denny McLain to a T.

But if you're an Aries, born March 21 through April 20, as McLain was, the one thing you can't ever take is rejection. McLain nearly set a record for being rejected.

Finley offered him to 18 clubs and all of them told him, no, thanks. Then he went to M. Donald Grant, the man instrumental in taking Willie Mays off the Giants' hands, and asked Grant whether the Mets would like McLain. Grant gave Finley the same answer those 18 other clubs did.

NEW YORK (AP)— Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Americans are becoming walking drugstores. One thousand chemicals—usage has doubled since 1965—are now added to the foods he eats to improve their coloring, flavor or shelf life. The average American consumes five pounds of these food additives a year.

U.S. families now eat one out of seven dinners away from home. Families with higher incomes eat out more often, and city dwellers do so more than held by either East or West was the ace of clubs. Hence the odds were that West held that key card.

When this hand was played in a team match some 40 years ago the late Raymond Balfe took the first spade. The other South player ducked and the swing decided the match.

Was Raymond's guess pure luck? No, it wasn't! Raymond decided that West might well have led a short suit unless he had a quick entry for his own suit and the only quick re-entry

The economic toll of 22½ million accidents last year was put at $16.38 billion. The same amount of money would build more than 650 thousand $25,000 homes.

One of the most select of all American societies is nonsegregated. It is the Medal of Honor Society, which is made up of some 305 living holders of the nation's highest award for combat bravery. They are the heroic flower of the nation's population of 26 million veterans.

Barnacles are still a serious world maritime problem. In six to eight months after it is launched a ship may acquire a three-inch thick crust of these tiny sea creatures on its hull that can add 100 tons to its weight and cut its speed by 10 per cent.

on Beardstown

By Virgil Reither

BEARDSTOWN — Among the traditional "sure signs of spring" in this old river community is the arrival of the Coast Guard housekeeping boat which reads the waterway for summer navigation.

The Coast Guard cutter 65506, or The Sangamon, was on hand at the local dock Monday morning.

Its head barge was loaded with navigational aids, including the heavy colored buoys which are placed along the riverway to mark the channel.

The barge is equipped with lifting equipment for placing the buoys or removing those which need repairs.

Among the jobs of the Coast Guard crews is that of repairing and replacing lights and other markings, important to towboat operators as they ply the waterway with thousands of tons of commodities.

Mussel Shelling
Another spring sign for Beardstown is the arrival of Japanese exporter Joe Seino from Los Angeles to resume his C. and S. mussel shelling business here.

Joe arrived this week and reopened the old freight house building on Fourth street and is now ready for business. He says he is afraid that the scarcity of shells may cause him some difficulty, but wants to try the supply.

He and Ora Campbell originated the business a couple of years ago and mussel shelling from all around trucked their shells here. Two years ago several Japanese businessmen came here to inspect the shells, which they use in the artificial pearl-growing culture in Japan.

Patterson Retires
Roy Patterson, former Beardstown fire chief and generally recognized as the "daddy" of the modern Beardstown Fire Department, says he has retired again.

This time it is at his doctor's orders.

Patterson retired from the fire department several years ago after a 40-year career, but continued in an advisory capacity and also drove a school bus here for seven and a half years.

Now he must quit due to health reasons. He says the "worst part of it is I'll miss my kids."

Golf Pro
Carey Vise, the old pro of golf in these parts, has been called back to temporary duty at the Virginia Country Club in an advisory capacity and the result is splendidly conditioned greens.

Vise, whose home is in Jacksonville, was the regular pro here for several years, then went to the Macomb Country Club for a few years.

He retired a couple of years back but was influenced to exercise his expertise anew for the 1972 season at Virginia CC.

Beardstown golfers are high in their praise of the greens and have welcomed Vise back with open arms.

Cook's Nook
Miss Edna Mae Taylor will assume her new duties soon at Cook's Nook.

She is retiring from the drugstore after 26 years as clerk and general factotum.

Miss Taylor started work for Jerry Edwards when he opened the Walgreen Drug Store here on State street, continued in the business after it was moved to the present location on Third, working for Lou McKenna and now Don Baugher.

Edwards moved to Arizona where he operates a drugstore, and McKenna now practices his profession in Louisiana, Mo.

Army Nurse
Miss Barbara Newingham, who has been in the Army Nurse Corps for the past 10 years, has decided to resign from the service. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Newingham of this city and had reached the grade of captain, with a major rating in the office.

Captain Newingham has been in many stations, overseas and stateside, during her career, and among her most recent assignments was conveying wounded GIs by air from Vietnam.

She is a graduate of Beardstown High School and has not announced her intentions for a civilian career as yet.

CORRIDOR LOCATION APPROVAL RECEIVED

Notice is hereby given to interested persons that the Illinois Division of Highways has received approval from the Federal Highway Administration for a corridor location for the segment of Supplemental Freeway F.A.P. 413 between Jacksonville and Industry.

The preferred alternate recommended by the Illinois Division of Highways was described as segments ACDFGHJ on Revised Corridor Map. This corridor passes near Arenzville, Beardstown and Rushville.

The proposed improvement will consist of the construction of four lane divided pavement with full access control. Access to the Freeway will be permitted only at interchanges. Access to the adjacent properties will be provided by frontage roads, township roads and service drives.

Maps, sketches and other information pertinent to the determination of the location of the improvement are available for public inspection at the District Six Office of the Illinois Division of Highways, 126 East Ash Street, Springfield, Illinois.

The operation, doctors said in a 6 p.m. EDT report "must necessarily wait for further stabilization" of the governor's condition but "ultimately the governor will require further surgery for removal of the bullet in the spinal cord area."

Wallace's progress is so good, the surgeons said, that "all of us are encouraged that his progress indicates an early return to his home."

The governor remained paralyzed from the waist down.

He was reported in good spirits, but in great pain from the four or five pistol-bullet wounds in his right arm, chest and abdomen.

Wallace's campaigning, in his third presidential try, had been 90 per cent complete with Tuesday's Democratic primaries in Maryland and Michigan expected to give him climactic victories.

He had become a contender for the Democratic nomination with victories in Florida, Alabama, Tennessee and North Carolina and second finishes in Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

Billy Joe Camp, the governor's press secretary, said Wallace himself made the decision to continue on. Asked if he would campaign in a wheelchair, Camp said: "Yes, if necessary."

President Nixon, saying "I can assure you Gov. Wallace is receiving the best medical care," offered the governor the facilities of Walter Reed Army Medical Center. Camp said moving the governor had been discussed "as a possibility for the future."

Authorities were silent on the reasons behind the shooting that occurred when the governor left his bullet-proof lecture for a rare hand-shaking foray into the crowd of 1,000.

Arthur Herman Bremer, the white 21-year-old Milwaukeean held in lieu of $200,000 bail, reportedly had been following the campaign. His apartment in Milwaukee had a Wallace sticker on the door, and inside were a Confederate flag and newspaper clippings about Wallace dating back to his 1968 third-party campaign.

A Milwaukee court psychiatrist, who examined Bremer in a misdemeanor case last year, said the man "did not seem too dangerous—there was no indication he had any mental defect."

But a community-relations official, who dealt with Bremer on another matter, said "I could detect his anger by the way he clenched his fist and tightened his mouth." He described Bremer as "bordering on paranoia"—dementia marked by a persecution complex.

The governor's beautiful young wife, Cornelia, spoke to reporters after he came out of the five hours of surgery. "As you know his nature," she said, "he didn't earn the title of 'fighting little judge' for nothing—and I expect him to continue in the same vein."

Mrs. Wallace, the governor's second wife, is expected to campaign in her husband's behalf until he is well enough to do so himself. Doctors estimated his stay at Holy Cross to be from four to ten days.

President Nixon told reporters that Secret Service Agent Nicholas Zorvas, shot in the throat during the wild fray at the shopping center, is recovering. Zorvas underwent seven hours of surgery in which doctors removed a bullet from his jaw, wired his teeth and repaired his trachea.

The other two wounded were not in danger. Alabama State Police Capt. E. C. Dothard was treated for a right-side flesh wound and released; Dora Thompson, a local campaign worker, suffered a leg wound and her condition was reported satisfactory.

The governor's doctors worried about the "blast effect" from the bullet near Wallace's spinal cord—which is the body's carrier of nerve messages. It is conceivable, Schanno said, the nerve bundles may recover from the impact.

"I think if worse came to worst, I'd say he could have the same disability as Franklin D. Roosevelt," Schanno said. The nation's 33rd President, crippled by polio served more than 12 years wearing heavy braces in a wheelchair.

On the political side, the Wallace campaign will now concentrate on winning delegates in nonprimary states and write-in votes in the California primary, said Charles Snider, Wallace's national campaign director.

Wallace's 33-year-old wife had previous experience in campaigning for her uncle, former Alabama Gov. James E. "Kissing Jim" Folsom.

She was here with her own two sons from a previous marriage, Josh and Jim Snively and the governor's four children from his marriage to Laureen Wallace who died of cancer.

Bremer was held in the county jail at Baltimore, charged with violating the 1968 Civil Rights act by assaulting a candidate for an elective office. He was charged also with assault on federal officer Zarvos.

His family had not seen him since he moved to his own apartment in October. They described him as "shy and timid." A younger brother, Roger, said "we never knew much about him."

He had been arrested last Nov. 18 on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

It took the Treasury Department only 10 minutes to trace the .38-caliber pistol recovered at the scene. Agents contacted the manufacturer, whose records pointed to a retail outlet in Milwaukee. It was purchased there Jan. 13.

The dangers pointed up by Wallace's move into the crowd didn't deter President Nixon from doing the same thing at the White House with about 500 tourists on the sidewalk Tuesday. He was returning from a visit to the Treasury Department next door.

The Senate and House unanimously adopted a resolution deploring the attack on Wallace and expressing hope for his full recovery.

Beer Brews Trouble
BONN (UPI)—Beer is the No. 1 offender in drunken driving cases in Germany, according to studies made between 1968 and 1971 by universities in three cities.

The studies, conducted by the Universities of Hamburg, Frankfurt and Mainz, showed beer responsible for about half the cases. When drunk with liquor or wine, beer was blamed for 75 per cent of drunkenness behind the wheel, the universities said.

In Michigan, where McGovern once nursed hopes of an upset victory, his managers said the second place finish would maintain his campaign momentum in the buildup for California.

Bill Passes House

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) —

A move to stop school officials from forcing school integration narrowly squeezed past the House Tuesday night in a vote confused by a clerk's error in tabulation.

The bill, which would allow assignments of pupils to schools on a child's "potential regardless of race, color or nationality," was beaten back earlier in the day, forcing its sponsor to withdraw it.

But it became apparent that the House clerk in his tabulation had missed one affirmative vote, which would have given the bill the required 89 votes for passage.

When the roll call was considered again several hours later, the measure won approval 91 to 47 over strong opposition from many Democrats.

A spokesman for Michael Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction, said the bill, which would amend the Armstrong Act on school desegregation, would "nullify our school desegregation program."

Although Democrats generally opposed reconsideration of the bill, claiming it had been defeated earlier in the day, House Speaker W. Robert Blair, R-Park Forest, declared, "The matter is not under debate, we're actually concluding the roll call."

Blair agreed that the case was unusual because of the clerk's error.

"I goofed on the verification," admitted Fredric B. Selck, the clerk of the House.

The measure, which is expected to meet stiff opposition in the Senate, would delete from the school codes any reference to assigning children to schools in order to wipe out segregation.

Although Moore claimed that it was "not an anti-busing bill," one of the chief opponents—Rep. Anthony Scariano, D-Park Forest—declared the measure "clearly forbids busing and once again establishes the doctrine of separate but equal."

"This is not an anti-busing bill, it is a quality education bill," Moore replied.

Another supporter, Majority Leader Henry Hyde, R-Chicago, declared, "schools should not be a sociological laboratory."

It is not the business of the schools to enforce integration."

A number of opponents called the bill "a step backward" in school integration and a move toward the separate but equal doctrine declared unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court in 1954.

A spokesman for Bakalis said Moore's bill, which his office strongly opposes, would emasculate the Armstrong Act, which required that pupils be placed in schools with the aim of preventing segregation because of race, color or nationality.

Bakalis has used the Armstrong Act as a bulwark for his implementation of desegregation guidelines for the state's more than 1,100 school districts.

SORRENTO, Italy (AP) — "The movie business today is like a vast roulette game—but with chips worth from a half-million dollars to $10 million. You don't know whether you're going to make a bundle or lose your entire stake. You don't even know if the casinos will still be open by the time your picture is released."

This was the analysis of famed film maker Billy Wilder, who is rolling a $3-million gamble with "Avanti!" starring Jack Lemmon and Juliet Mills. His premise: that the movie-going public is saturated with sex-charged films.

"I am making something very daring in today's market: a romantic comedy," said the producer-director-writer over coffee in this sun-drenched mid-Italy resort.

"I am betting that dirty movies will kill themselves off pretty soon. I mean, how far can they go to shock people, nowadays?" No far-out sex in Wilder's "Avanti!" It is the story of an American conglomerate firm executive—Lemmon—who comes to Italy for the burial of his father, who has died with his English mistress, mother of Miss Mills. There is a nude swimming scene between the two reluctant lovers, but Wilder assured that it will be photographed from a distance—"we don't expect Lemmon to portray a Tarzan at this stage in his career."

Wilder is no prude; you need only listen to his over-coffee wit to determine that. He believes that American films have gone too far in the direction of sex in order to lure citizens away from their sexless television programs.

"With the advent of pornography, eroticism has disappeared," said Wilder.

Wilder added that it would be "disastrous" to go back to the American self-censorship that he knew in his earlier Hollywood days. One of his hits was "Salut 17." He admitted that the war prisoners in their barracks dialogue "sounded like girls at Vassar—except that today girls at Vassar sound like men in barracks."

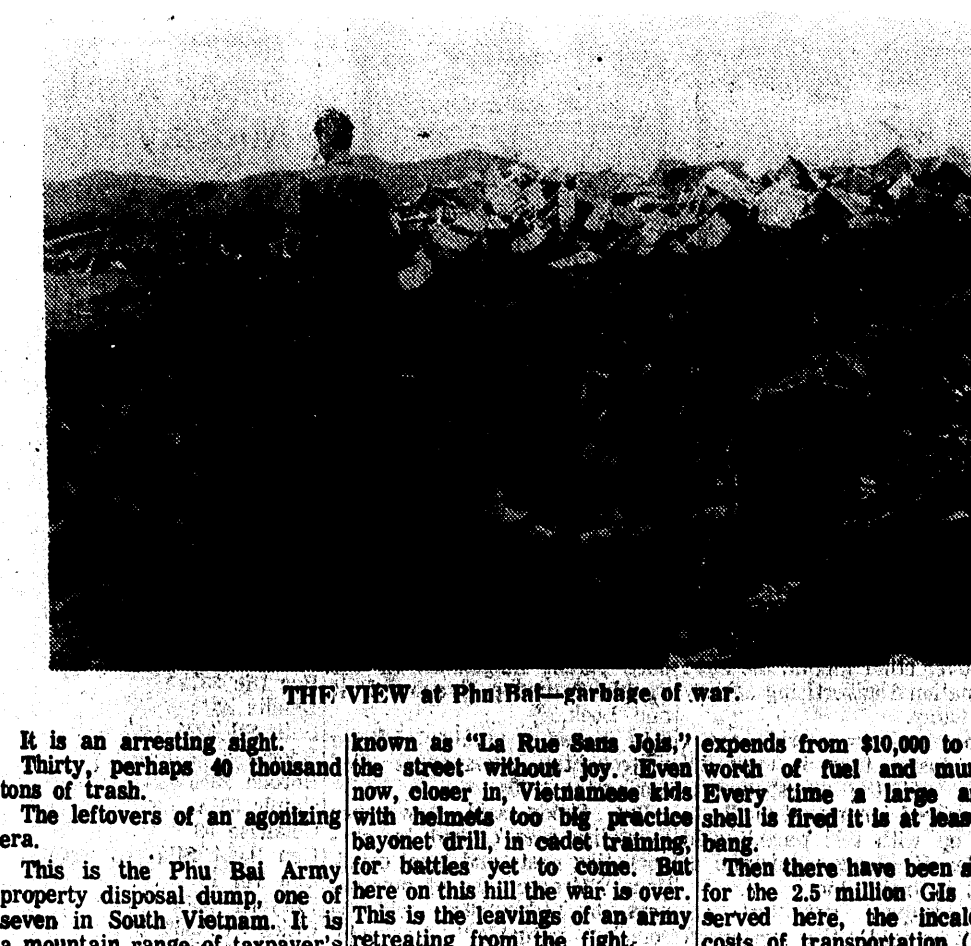

He said he wasn't deprecating such serious film makers as Mike Nichols ("Carnal Knowledge") and John Schlesinger ("Sunday Bloody Sunday"). The films he deprecates "are the ones that used to be made for $25,000 and shown on Santa Monica Boulevard (skin-flick row in Los Angeles); now they're shot for $3 million and opened at Grauman's Chinese."

By TOM TIEDE
PHU BAI, Vietnam (NEA)—

By spring of 1972, it had cost the United States about $120 billion to wage the war in this country, and some of that price is clearly visible here—rotting away in a gigantic refuse dump.

As far, almost, as the eye can see:

Hundreds of typewriters. Sprawling dunes of abandoned artillery canisters. Huge containers of hammers and saws and drills and screwdrivers and wrenches. Plumbing fixtures buried in the dirt. Air-conditioning units. Old gas stoves. Layer upon layer of tires. Refrigerators. Foot lockers. And melting batteries.

THE VIEW at Phu Bai—garbage of war.

It is an arresting sight. Thirty, perhaps 40 thousand tons of trash.

The leftovers of an agonizing era.

This is the Phu Bai Army property disposal dump, one of seven in South Vietnam. It is a mountain range of taxpayer's generosity and GI sweat. Shot apart helicopter engines. Bullet-pocked generators. Flak vests filled with flak. A village of Conex containers.

It litters, this junk, for thousands of yards over a series of hills just below the battles of the spring offensive. Even now troops rush to and from the action on a nearby highway known as "La Rue Sans Joie," the street without joy. Even now, closer in, Vietnamese kids with helmets too big practice bayonet drill in cadet training.

Boxes of IBM cards. Adding machines rusting in puddles. Olive drab water heaters. Old ammunition belts. Spindles of rusty wire.

The cost of the rubbish is not known. Millions, no doubt. But in this war, that is hardly a wink of a Pentagon eye. The $120 billion mentioned earlier is merely a guess at the Vietnam price tag. It is used because the exact cost has never been computed. Inflation is responsible for some of it, yet it is twice the expense of Korea ($54 billion), four times that of World War II ($26 billion) and 40 times that of the Civil War (about $3 billion).

Moreover, the $120 billion figure is not the end of it. A University of Utah economist has calculated that the veterans benefits for Vietnam will amount to $220 billion over the years, which, counting interest, will make the war's total cost nearer $360 billion.

But the $120 billion is a good working figure. It's about $400 for every U.S. citizen, about $150,000 for every enemy dead, about $2 million for each of the 55,000 dead GIs.

Where did all the money go? Up in smoke, at least some of it. Seven billion worth of aircraft (more than 8,125 planes and helicopters) have been destroyed. During the peak years of the war, the United States spent more than $2 billion a year on air fire and nearly $3 billion annually on ground ammunition. Each time a jet fighter goes on a mission here, it

House Approves 18-Year-Old Board Members

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois House has approved a bill giving 18-year-olds the right to run for positions on school boards in districts outside of Chicago.

The measure now goes to the Senate.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Eugene Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, was narrowly passed by three votes Monday night after its sponsor made a final plea for "four more votes... to pass it."

"You're willing to entrust him (the 18-year-old) with a $1 million tank in the army... so you should let him be a candidate for our local school boards," Mrs. Chapman said during the debate.

Rep. Webster Borchers, R-Decatur, called it "nonsense" to allow 18-year-olds to "handle millions of dollars" as school board members. The present age for qualifying for candidacy is 21.

Moments after the measure passed, the House defeated another Chapman proposal which would have allowed 18-year-olds to run for seats in the junior college boards.

The vote was 85-36, killing the measure. Eighty-nine votes are needed for passage of legislation.

In arguing for both measures, Mrs. Chapman said that all other local positions are open for 18-year-olds. "This is a bill which would result only in conformity," she declared.

In the school board issue, the City of Chicago was excluded because the bill refers only to districts with under 500,000 population. School board members in Chicago are named by the mayor.

Alleged Gunman Described As Very Quiet

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A former neighbor of Arthur Bremer said Monday that the young man who is accused of shooting George C. Wallace was a "very quiet person," and a seeming supporter of the Alabama governor.

"He must have been for George Wallace because he had a Wallace sticker across the door" of his apartment, said Stephen Wasche, who lives in the same apartment building that Bremer did and whose brother is a manager of the building.

Bremer, 21, whose parents live on Milwaukee's South Side, lived in the apartment on the city's near West Side until a month ago, Wasche said.

Wasche said he knew Bremer remotely, but not well enough to discuss politics.

Bremer reportedly had a girl friend, but she never visited the apartment, Wasche said.

Bremer had lived in the apartment since November. Wasche said he was aware of Bremer having had only two visits, both from his mother.

The last time she visited was about a month ago, and "in fact, I think that was the day that he left," Wasche said.

The apartment is in an area of student residences. Records showed Bremer had attended Milwaukee Area Technical College, a tax-supported community college.

Police said they had no record of his having been arrested in Milwaukee.

Bremer's parents declined to talk to newsmen at their home, and the family's telephone was disconnected. A neighbor said the elder Bremer is a truck driver.

Helen Grabowski, who lives near the Bremer home, said the Bremers were considered "nice people," but "didn't socialize much."

Murrayville And Woodson PTA New Officers

MURRAYVILLE — New officers were installed at the May 9th meeting of the Murrayville-Woodson PTA held at the school with the president, Mrs. Wayne Goodwin, presiding.

Mrs. Russell Clark led in the pledge to the flag and Mrs. Loren Moehn gave the secretary's report. Treasurer Mrs. Dale Henton reported sixty-six dollars realized from the recent bake sale.

Mrs. Clark took attendance and the banner was awarded the third grade, along with five dollars. After discussion for an all-school picnic this was discarded in favor of providing ice cream for all of the pupils on the last day of school.

Mrs. Goodwin, retiring president, installed new officers: president, Mrs. Merle Megginson; vice president, Mrs. Rene Menard; secretary, Mrs. Gary Winters; and treasurer, Mrs. Bill Suttles. Mrs. Megginson offered the response for the new slate.

The program was a review of the book, "I'm OK; You're OK," by Dr. Harris, and presented by Rev. Wayne Goodwin.

Following the meeting Mrs. Goodwin and Mrs. Henton served tea and cookies.

The new president, Mrs. Megginson, called for a board meeting to be held sometime this month. The regular meetings will resume in September.

Negotiations Short Of Acceptance In School District 117

Negotiations between the Jacksonville Education Association and a team of board members from School District 117 may have been in vain during the past three or four months.

A nine-part agreement thrashed out between the two sides included eight non-economic items and the salary or money proposal.

A motion to accept the agreement by the board of education was amended by a "when and if" clause which could nullify the most important part of the package.

The "when and if" clause proposed by Ralph Hudson simply states that the board accepts all the non-economic items for approval and the salary schedule which would cost an additional $185,000 "when and if" the district receives the additional funds in the form of increased state aid.

The proposed salary schedule listed the starting pay at $7,900, a $300 increase over the previous year for starting teachers. The top end of the scale moved from $13,326 to $14,590. The increments on the new schedule increased from $233 to $295 per step on the multi-step salary schedule.

Jack Fairfield, chairman of the board's negotiating team said he felt he had the sentiment of the majority of the board to do "what is fair and equitable." Fairfield said the board has full control over the budget and that the increased funds would have to come from local taxes, state aid or a reduction in present expenses, possibly a combination of all three.

Dr. Clifford Crone said "no action" could raise questions on the credibility of the board to act in good faith.

Objections to the salary increases centered around the fact that the district is currently about $600,000 in the red for the present school year. Comments from Russell Morris indicated that he would rather wait to see just where the funds might be before casting a vote on the increase.

Several members were favorable to tabling the entire package for later consideration. Hudson's amendment was somewhat of a compromise.

Reaction To Vote
JEA President Jackie May commented that she was personally disappointed in the board's action and felt sure the faculty members of JEA would also share her disappointment.

What action might be forthcoming was not mentioned by Mrs. May, although she made it clear that JEA would have a statement on the matter within a short time.

Fairfield said he was also disappointed at the board action. "I thought we were negotiating along the lines of the majority of the board. It is obvious now that we were not." Asked what further action might be taken, Fairfield said he did not know at this time but that some sort of dialog would probably take place between two groups.

Status of even what was approved by the board is still uncertain. It was not immediately determined whether the entire package must be ratified in total, or whether acceptance of a part conditional on the money portion was legal under terms of the agreement.

Board President J. Ivan Heaton said he would call a special meeting to handle further negotiations if necessary.

The board vote on the amendment and then the amended motion was a four to three ballot: For, Hudson, Morris, Doyle and Colclasure. Against, Fairfield, Kurtz and Heaton.

Scott Winners OF IREC Trip

By Mrs. James Cox
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone 742-3817 or 742-5566)
WINCHESTER — Allan Worrell of Winchester, route two, and Ann Weibel of Baylis, route two, have been named winners of the 1972 Youth to Washington essay contest sponsored by the Illinois Rural Electric Co., according to William F. Hanback, manager of the Winchester-based cooperative.

The winners were selected from among eight other finalists at a banquet held in their honor Friday evening, May 12, at Slagle's Ranch Inn in Winchester. The winners will receive an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D. C.

Worrell, a student at Winchester High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Worrell. Miss Weibel is a student at Perry High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Weibel.

The ten finalists presented their essays orally to a panel of five judges during the banquet. Essays dealt with some aspect of rural electrification, outlining how the rural electric cooperatives are contributing to the people and the areas they serve.

Second place winners were Joni Dunker of Hull, route one, and Darlene Schroeder of Chapin, route one. Each received a $25 savings bond. Miss Dunker is a student at West Pike High School and Miss Schroeder attends Triopia High School.

"The cooperative's purpose in sponsoring the Youth to Washington trip is to give these outstanding young people an opportunity to see their government in action and to acquaint them with the operations and activities of the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) and the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association (NRECA)," Hanback said.

The other six finalists in the contest were: Vicki Green of Rockport, route two, Randy Sprague of Hull, route one; Joyce Miller of New Canton, route one; Carolyn McKinley of Murrayville, route one; Rita Albrecht of Carrollton, route three; and Jim Little of Bluffs, route one.

Earlier in the week, the ten finalists were guests of the cooperative in Springfield where the group spent the day touring the Illinois Capitol building and observing the Illinois General Assembly in session. While in Springfield, the group met with Illinois Secretary of State John W. Lewis and legislators from this area. They also visited the headquarters of the Association of Illinois Electric Cooperatives (AIEC).

The winners will return to Springfield on June 10 where they will join 45 other students, representing 18 Illinois electric cooperatives, and board buses for the trip to Washington. They will be accompanied by chaperones and will return to Springfield June 17. Among the chaperones accompanying the group will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Gant of Winchester. Gant is staff assistant for Illinois Rural Electric Co.

Equal Rights Proposal Rejected By House

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois House Tuesday night rejected a proposed equal-rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution by a vote of 73-69.

The amendment, which would assure equality under the law between men and women, needed 107 votes for passage. Rep. Eugene Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, the resolution's chief sponsor, said she was distressed by the vote. She added: "Many of the legislators have not understood that they have denied equality under the law to women."

The issue remained alive, however, hanging on the fate of a similar Senate resolution. Legislators say, however, that the Senate measure also is expected to meet stiff opposition from a coalition of conservative Republicans and labor-oriented Democrats.

That coalition defeated the resolution in the House as many of the opponents declared that the amendment would deny women protective laws. House Majority Leader Henry Hyde, R-Chicago, said that the amendment would eliminate "reasonable distinctions" between men and women. "Women aren't supposed to work in coal mines in Illinois, but now (if the measure passes) they will be able to," he declared, calling the measure an "attack on the home — an attack on motherhood."

Many of the opponents feared that such a constitutional change would open the door for women being drafted into the armed forces and women being deprived of various protective laws, such as minimum working hours.

The amendment would guarantee women equal rights with men in employment, pay and work rules.

As it became more apparent that the measure would lose by a wide margin, Rep. Lee Rayson, D-Tinley Park, declared that the legislators of the lower chamber had "manifested... (themselves) as male chauvinists... with much levity."

The amendment has been ratified by 17 states and rejected by one. Three states have voted to postpone consideration.

Next Sunday Is Local Audubon Picnic Date

Members are urged to bring friends as guests to the meeting. Each group is to furnish its own food. A fire will be made for cooking. There will be a nature hunt and quiz and informal reports of the recent State Audubon Society convention. The last program of the season will be concluded by sundown. Any one wishing further information may call Cathy Randall at 243-3529 or Ronda Hemphill at 243-2827.

Dilemma Continues

By LARRY KRAMP
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The state Senate Revenue Committee Tuesday took a cautious approach to abolition of the personal-property tax because of uncertainty about replacing revenue that would be lost to local governments.

The committee—reinforced by Democratic majority and Republican minority leaders—agreed to keep all property-tax-revision bills in a subcommittee.

Meanwhile, it was agreed, staff members of both parties would join with experts of the Bureau of the Budget in continued study of the problem of finding replacement money.

Sen. Daniel Dougherty, D-Chicago, chairman of the subcommittee, reported unfavorably on mechanisms in a Republican minority program intended to phase out the personal-property tax by 1979 without shifting the local tax burden to real estate. Dougherty referred especially to a proposal to replace the "local government distributive fund" with "the local property tax replacement fund."

Dougherty said the former was based on the allocation of one-twelfth of state income-tax revenue to local governments. Any change, he said, might disturb the flow of such funds to cities and counties, and he did not want to take the risk of cutting off money needed by cities. Dougherty said the bills also depended on mobile home privilege taxes that have been ruled invalid.

Sen. Hudson Sour, R-Peoria, balked at putting off a decision on bills by Sen. John I. Knapp, D-Petersburg, to abolish the personal-property tax at once and to replace it with an increase in the state income-tax rates.

"Would you be willing to vote for an income tax?" Sour asked Knapp.

"Yes, I would," Knapp said, "because I believe people want honesty in government."

However, Knapp said, his proposal did not raise taxes, but relocated where tax revenues came from.

"When we passed the income tax," Knapp said, "we promised to abolish the personal-property tax and to take the sales tax off food and drugs."

Sour said he knew of no one on the Republican side of the aisle who would vote for income-tax increases. "Four years ago, they got tagged with

Bisch Airways Discontinues Service Here

Bisch Airways discontinued service as the operator of Jacksonville Municipal Airport effective Monday according to Jack Hackett, chairman of the airport authority.

Hackett said the airport would continue to operate as in the past but without a Jacksonville-based firm as operators of all services.

Hackett said Bisch's five-year lease had been terminated "by mutual consent." Bisch had provided charter, rental and student training services since April 1, 1971.

Hackett said that the Airport Authority has contracted for services to replace those lost when Bisch moved out. This includes ground service concessions.

Hackett said under the new arrangement the airport will be open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily instead of the 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. schedule under Bisch.

Members of the Airport Authority are Chairman B. L. Uhlen, Vice Chairman Alvin Stein, Dr. Ward Dunseth, and Hackett.

SENATE VOTES EMERGENCY CASH FOR TAX REFUNDS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Money for state income tax refunds has run out, Illinois state senators were told Tuesday as they were urged to rush through a $25 million replacement bill.

The Senate approved unanimously.

Sen. Terrell E. Clarke, R-Western Springs, told the Senate the money was exhausted Monday. The assistant minority leader said Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie was ready to sign the bill as soon as it was processed.

it. They're not going to get kicked by that mule again," he said.

"We're postponing the inevitable," Knapp answered. "I predict if we don't do something about the personal-property tax and about adjusting sources of school revenue, before November we'll be back here."

The committee recommended, 9-6, passage of a bill to permit taxpayers to use the standard tax deduction permitted under federal income tax in figuring state income taxes.

Personal Injury Suit Moves Into Second Day

The selection of a 12-member jury and testimony from both sides in a personal injury case was held Tuesday in Morgan county circuit court.

Judge John B. Wright ordered the jury to return at 9 a.m. this morning to hear instructions to the jury and closing arguments before taking the civil case under deliberation.

Eddie Butler of Peoria is seeking damages for injuries sustained in an auto accident Nov. 8, 1970, from Robert Veness of 1123 W. Lafayette.

Butler is represented by a Peoria law firm and Veness is represented by Attorney Robert E. Bradney.

Members of the jury who are hearing the case are: Mary D. Bourn, Doris Jean McLaughlin, Alvin Ledbetter, Otis A. Ervin, Jr., Craig A. Brogdon, Eleanor Craig, Katherine P. Conant, L. Glenn Fernandes, William F. Deaton, Helen Tempin, John E. Smith and Mary A. Traver.

Testimony was heard Tuesday afternoon from the plaintiff and two passengers in his auto. The defense called a police officer and the defendant Robert Veness. Deposition statements were also read into the record for both sides.

SIU Official To Speak At State Hospital

Jacksonville State Hospital staff, family, friends, and members of the community are invited to attend a speaking engagement sponsored by the hospital on Wednesday evening, May 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Sophie Leschin Arts for Living Center. Featured speaker for the evening will be William L. Stewart, M.D., professor and chairman of the Department of Family Practice, SIU School of Medicine, Springfield.

Dr. Stewart, a graduate of the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, will describe the progress made by the new SIU School of Medicine in Springfield and the development of the Family Practice program with special emphasis on the role of the family in the maintenance of mental health and the prevention of mental illness.

The program is being held during May in recognition of Mental Health Month and will be one of many activities throughout the nation drawing attention to mental health programs.
